

DeGaulle Declares: 'I'll Rule Algeria'

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Premier Charles De Gaulle told representatives of Algeria Public Safety Committee today its insurgent authority must come to an end. He said he will run Algeria.

He named Gen. Raoul Salan, military commander of the junta, as his own delegate-general in Algiers. But De Gaulle will personally assume control of Algerian affairs, acting as his own cabinet minister for the strife-torn territory.

De Gaulle said the committee, which led the drive to bring him to power, must now concentrate on integration of the Moslem and European communities in Algeria.

On the last day of his tour of Algeria, he told representatives of the Algerian and the local committee: "You must not substitute yourselves for legal authority. Your task is to work for a complete integration of souls."

His statement cleared up his attitude on the future of the public safety committee movement that spread throughout Algeria as well as metropolitan France and parts of the French Empire.

AS IN ALGIERS Wednesday and in eastern Algeria Thursday, excited crowds of Europeans and Moslems crowded the streets of this western Algerian port to greet the World War II hero who became French premier Sunday.

Back home, Paris newspapers predicted trouble for De Gaulle from the insurgent military-civilian Committees of Public Safety who seized power in Algeria three weeks ago.

Spokesmen for the committees, which represent the interests of the 1½ million French settlers in Algeria, reportedly have demanded that De Gaulle grant them a big voice in his regime. The demands reportedly infuriated the old soldier.

Leaders of the 3½ year Algerian nationalist rebellion for independence from France have rejected De Gaulle's promise of equal French citizenship for Algeria's nine million Arabs and Berbers. The rebels said they again would ask the U.N. General Assembly to support their independence movement and that meanwhile the war would spread to all North Africa.

Foreign Aid Comes to Ohio

Over $44 Million Paid To Firms in State

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio seems an unlikely place to spend foreign aid money. Nevertheless, $44½ million went to Ohio industries under this program during a 3½-year period.

This was disclosed today in a table compiled for senators backing the military and economic aid program now under consideration. Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) claims the figures support his contention that 85 per cent of foreign aid money is spent in domestic industries.

The table shows where the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) bought materials from U.S. firms from January 1954 to June 30, 1957.

Some of the Ohio cities where ICA money was spent, together with samples of the largest contractors:

Kansas City Railroad Cuts Fares Again

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Southern Railroad is cutting fares again—this time for the benefit of Pullman passengers.

Most other railroads have given up on passenger business. They have discontinued and combined trains or abandoned service on most branches and even on main lines. Buses and airplanes have taken much of the business.

"Our passenger operations are important to us," said W. N. Deramus, the peppery 70-year-old who has been head of the Kansas City Southern since 1940. He once said he hoped to get coach fares down to a cent a mile.

The new fare deal will permit passengers to use Pullmans on regular coach tickets. Estimated saving: 29 per cent.

Pullman passengers still must pay the Pullman Co. charges.

C. H. Taylor, the railroad's advertising manager, said he believes the Kansas City Southern is the first to offer the saving to Pullman passengers over its entire system.

Cox Estate Is Sold For Housing Center

DAYTON (AP)—The 62-acre estate of the late James M. Cox, three time Ohio governor and Democratic presidential candidate, will soon become a $10 million housing development.

The estate was sold Thursday to the Paul Welch Development Corp. The area will be called Governor's Hill, Welch said.

Nation's Job Picture Showing Improvement

CENTER OF THE TRAGEDY — This aerial view looks over the farming village of Clofax, Wis., center of the tornado onslaught that devastated northwest Wisconsin. Thirteen persons died and one-third of the homes were flattened in the village. Some 30 dead were reported in the four-county area of Wisconsin's lush "blue diamond" farm lands.

Tornado-Hit Areas Start Cleanup Job

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP)—While the search for additional dead continued, the first steps toward recovery have been taken in this tornado-ravaged section of north-west Wisconsin.

State, federal and private agencies offered assistance from headquarters set up in the four-county area. At least 30 persons died when three twisters ripped a 90-mile path Wednesday night. Six persons were reported missing.

More than 350 were injured, 119 of them requiring hospital attention. At least 20 of the injured were in grave condition.

Damage will be in the millions, according to Gov. Vernon Thomson, who inspected the area by plane and car Thursday. The Red Cross said that 615 families were affected. More than 100 homes were destroyed, another 165 damaged extensively and 340 less seriously. Some 1,000 head of cattle were killed.

He appealed to President Eisenhower for federal emergency help in three of the damaged counties—Dunn, Chippewa and St. Croix. Damage in Eau Claire County was less severe.

The Small Business Administration in Washington announced it has designated the three counties as disaster areas, making home owners and businessmen eligible for loan at 3 per cent interest. The Department of Agriculture announced plans to make surplus food available, as well as reconstruction loans for farmers.

Chrysler Shuts Assembly Plant

UAW Trying To Avoid Trouble During Truce

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. today shut down assembly operations at its Plymouth body and assembly plants in Detroit. This was the first such action by any of the car makers during operations without labor contracts.

The company said 2,700 employees were sent home after 100 members of the United Auto Workers Union walked off the job in the trim department of the Plymouth body plant.

The UAW, which has instructed all members to work as usual during a non-contract period, had no immediate comment.

Earlier, the UAW's president, Walter P. Reuther, had moved quickly to make sure incidents involving Chrysler and General Motors workers Thursday did not disrupt the uneasy truce in the auto industry negotiations.

Reuther, after getting reports from top aides on the Chrysler and General Motors situations, repeated his order that the UAW members must keep peace at all costs in auto plants until contracts can be worked out.

Nearly 500,000 UAW members have been working without a contract since the old three-year pact expired, GM on May 29 and Ford and Chrysler Sunday.

The first incident occurred Wednesday night when picketers ringed the General Motors Fisher Body plant near Pittsburgh, Pa. Leonard Woodcock, head of the union's GM negotiating committee, said the dispute centered about local grievances.

PICKETS at the plant were moved Thursday night and production was resumed by the overnight shift.

Chrysler's dispute resulted from company action in handing out brief suspensions to some UAW stewards and committeemen in Chrysler plants across the country. Chrysler denied UAW charges that it was trying to provoke workers into a strike. The company said the only ones disciplined were those who had flatly refused to go to work.

Ford, whose workers have not been involved in any incidents, met with the UAW Thursday and had another session today, as did GM. Chrysler and the UAW will meet again Monday.

Circleville Legion Post Hosts 7th District Session

Circleville American Legion Hall Adkins Post 134 will be host Sunday for the seventh District American Legion Convention to be held in the Memorial Hall.

Hermon Devor, first vice commander of the Ohio American Legion will be the guest speaker. Devor, Greenville, is following a career of steady Legion activity that began when he was discharged from the Air Force after three and half year's service in World War II. He comes from Erk Cottrell Post No. 140 at Greenville, and subsequently served six years as post service officer.

Devor was later adjutant and served two terms as commander of the Darke County Legion council.

The seven-county Third District in western Ohio selected him as commander twice, and as a delegate to national conventions eight times. He was district national security chairman five years, and in three of these also was Ohio chairman. He was a national vice-chairman for two years of a section of the Legion's national security committee.

DEVOR served two years as Darke county chairman of the March of Dimes, and three years as district chairman of the "Gifts for the Soldier" campaign.

Seventh District Commander Robert Liston, who will step down this year, will preside over the meeting. All Legionnaires are invited to attend the affair, which will start at 10:30 a. m. with a business meeting.

Cop's Diet Fails; Special Order Out

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Police Sgt. Maurice J. Glennon has had little success with his dieting. Instead of losing weight, he added 15 pounds.

This police appeared Thursday on the police bulletin board: "All cars will please refrain from bringing Sgt. Glennon any food except coffee."

The order was signed by his wife.

West German Chieftain Honors U.S. Unknowns

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Theodor Heuss of West Germany became the first foreign head of state to pay tribute to the unknown American dead of three wars.

His visit to the Tomb of the Unknowns at Arlington National Cemetery, by coincidence, falls on the 14th anniversary of the D-Day invasion of Europe by Allies who went on to defeat Germany.

Idle Total Still Drops

Total Employment Tops 64 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today an improved employment situation in May. There was a substantial rise among those employed and a decline in the number of idle workers.

A joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments put May employment at 64,061,000, up 1,154,000 from April. Unemployment declined by 216,000, up 1,154,000 from April, since January.

The job gain was attributed to seasonal expansion in agriculture and service employment plus a bigger than usual gain in construction. The report said a sharp pickup in outdoor work represented in part recovery from delay caused by especially bad weather earlier in the year.

The employment rise in May was much greater than the drop in unemployment primarily because most of those joining the farm labor force were housewives and students who had been outside the labor force in April.

THE REPORT said sizable reductions in unemployment among previously jobless workers were partially offset by an increasing number of students seeking summer jobs. This student influx into the labor force is expected to push the unemployment total well over the five million mark in June or July.

Employment in manufacturing, where recession effects have been most severe, declined by 67,000 to 15 million, but this was described as only slightly more than the seasonal trend for the month.

Compared with a year ago, manufacturing employment is down by 1,700,000, with more than four-fifths of it centered in durable goods industries.

Employment in steel mills and auto plants in mid-May held close to April levels in contrast to large declines in previous months.

The May drop of 216,000 in unemployment was a bit better than usual for this time of year. The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment as a proportion of the labor force dropped to 7.2 per cent from its high of 7.5 per cent in April. This was the first reduction since the rate started climbing last summer.

Unemployment among workers insured for jobless payments declined in all but four states in May, dropping by 350,000 to three million.

In April employment was 62,907,000, down about 1,350,000 from last year, and unemployment was 5,120,000, about double the figure a year ago.

Cheesey Thief Answers Phone

An unorthodox thief has Circleville Police shaking their collective heads today.

Last night, between 10:10 and 10:48 p. m. he entered the John Himrod residence, Himrod Drive. He ate a dice pickle and a small piece of cheese and left muddy tracks in the house.

What stumps the police? The intruder answered the phone twice and had conversations with Himrod's mother and a neighbor while feasting. He just told them that "John is out, but will be back."

Few self-respecting burglars answer the phone while in the midst of a job.

Blacksmith, 79, Bows to Air Age

YORK SPRINGS, Pa. (AP)—George M. Myers, a blacksmith whose pride would not permit him to accept the automobile, has finally bowed to the space age.

He plans to visit New York next week, traveling by plane.

The trip grew out of a taunt that he had never traveled far from his Pennsylvania home.

"Why don't you pick yourself up and go on a plane trip?" one of his daughters asked.

"Not until I'm 80," Myers retorted. That will be next Friday and his family is holding him to his promise.

Politicians See 'New' Bill O'Neill With Liberal Tilt

By ART PARKS
AP Staff Writer

COLUMBUS (AP)—Politicians have been wondering in recent weeks whether they have been looking at a "new" Bill O'Neill—a governor with more of a liberal tilt.

For a governor who obviously wanted no controversy in his first term in office, O'Neill has startled politicians by venturing into such trouble areas as unemployment compensation and poor relief.

To illustrate: O'Neill is asking the upcoming special session of the Legislature to approve an extra 13 weeks of benefits for the jobless.

He is planning to ask extra $1 million for the state's share of local poor relief costs.

He even conceded that the whole question of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) will be wide open to the consideration of lawmakers when they meet in special session "on or before June 30."

Can this be the same Bill O'Neill who, last year, wanted no part of a fight?

HAVE HIS ideas changed in recent weeks? "I'm the same Bill O'Neill as before," he says. "Now some things have developed that are of the utmost importance—things that demand action."

"Some of the seers will tell you that they have been calling for action for a year or more. The facts are that an economic situation has developed which could not be foreseen a year ago."

The state is not going to stand still. We are going to move to do the things that need to be done.

"I have not changed my basic ideas at all. Some of them are being expressed for the first time for the simple reason this is the first time they needed to be expressed."

Since his heart attack last January (which probably gave him a longer period of quiet than he ever had in his adult life) Ohio's Republican governor has what appears to be a "take-charge" attitude for the first time.

O'Neill probably faces a stiff test of his leadership in the coming special session of the Legislature. A serious slip during those days could be politically fatal—and O'Neill appears to sense it.

But you get the idea he's rather looking forward to a fight.

McCone Tipped For AEC Post

Strauss To Resign As Boss June 30

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.) said the White House advised him today that John A. McCone, a Los Angeles business man, will be nominated to succeed Lewis L. Strauss on the Atomic Energy Commission.

McCone, 56, is an engineer as well as having widespread business interests. He was a Defense Department official in the administration of former President Truman, serving as deputy to the secretary of defense in 1948 and as undersecretary of the Air Force in 1950-51.

A personal friend of President Eisenhower, McCone has been a frequent visitor to the White House.

Strauss is leaving the AEC June 30 when his current five-year term expires.

Strauss gave no specific reason for his decision. But he said in a letter to President Eisenhower that he believed "circumstances beyond the control of either of us make a change in the chairman of the commission advisable."

This could have been an allusion to speculation that his renomination might run into stiff opposition in the Senate.

CAPITOL HILL reaction to his decision was mixed, with some Congress members lauding his "great contributions" and others voicing pleasure at his departure.

The 62-year-old Strauss, a former New York banker, also will give up his post as special adviser to Eisenhower on atomic energy matters. But he will become the President's special assistant in charge of promoting the atom-for-peace program.

As such, he will lead the U.S. delegation to an international scientific conference on peaceful uses of atomic energy in Switzerland next September.

Strauss was named to the AEC by former President Truman in 1946, soon after the agency was created. He served until 1950 and then was appointed by Eisenhower in June 1953 to succeed Gordon Dean as chairman.

For the last several months, he reportedly has been locked in a dispute with Secretary of State Dulles over U.S. nuclear policy.

Senate May Ban Military Cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said today he expects the Senate to back the House in voting funds to prevent cutbacks in military forces.

Chavez is chairman of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee starting consideration of a House passed bill to provide $38,409,561, 000 for defense in the fiscal year starting July 1.

St. Clairsville Aid Official To Be Fired

COLUMBUS (AP)—John C. Wyatt, now under a 30-day suspension from his $400-a-month job as sub-division manager of the Aid for the Aged office in St. Clairsville, will be removed from the job next Wednesday.

In approving the removal, Mrs. Margaret A. Ireland, state welfare director, accused Wyatt of being insubordinate, inefficient, incompetent and neglectful of duty.

Businessmen Cautiously OK Slah in Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A number of leading businessmen have given qualified backing to tax cutting as an anti-recession measure.

But even as their views were made public Thursday, the House voted to continue present tax rates on corporation income and certain items such as automobiles, cigarettes and liquor.

Although many House members would like to cut taxes this election year, they went along with the decision of their leaders and the Eisenhower administration against any reduction at this session. The main reason: prospective big budget deficits.

The Senate is expected to follow the same course, although efforts probably will be made there to gain tax relief for the ailing automobile and rail industries.

The business leaders, responding to a questionnaire from the Senate Finance Committee, were by no means enthusiastic about the idea of tax reduction.

Most of the 14 men polled by the committee favored caution in employing government action to bring about an economic upturn. There were expressions of concern that such action might spur inflation.

In a separate study, the staff of the Senate House Economic Committee said that since its last analysis in February "economic activity has continued to decline and there are as yet few signs of an early upturn."

Methodists Plan Talks on Labor Dispute

LAKESIDE (AP)—The Ohio Methodist Conference wants its churches to provide forums for discussion of a proposal that the union shop be banned by state law.

After more than an hour's discussion Thursday, 1,400 delegates to the conference's annual session approved the forum idea. This followed rejection of a resolution from the National Council of Churches declaring that the union shop should not be a subject of state law but a matter to be settled by labor and management at the bargaining table.

The resolution adopted urged 11 districts, which include some 300,000 members, to follow the pattern of the conference itself in discussing the issue.

"Because there is a great difference of opinion with regard to the proposed 'right-to-work' legislation, we urge individual districts in the conference to set up fact-finding forums, with representatives of both management and labor invited to express their views and provide Christians with intelligent interpretations."

The Methodist stand was in contrast to the Ohio Roman Catholic bishops' view which firmly rejected the entire ban idea.

Taylor Named Coach at OSU

Taylor's selection was confirmed by the university Board of Trustees. He was nominated by a special screening committee and the full Athletic Board. President Novice G. Fawcett and the trustees agreed in quick succession.

Taylor succeeds Floyd Stahl who stepped down after eight years at the Buckeye helm.

New Yorkers Rap Little Rock Effort

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Two New York educators said Thursday they felt Little Rock school authorities mishandled discipline during the first year of racial integration at Central High School.

The two—Dr. David Salten, Long Beach, N. Y., school superintendent, and Dr. Virgil M. Rogers, dean of education at Syracuse University, N. Y.—were the only witnesses called by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People in opposition to a school board plea for a 2½-year suspension of integration at Central High.

A hearing on the petition ended Thursday in its third day.

U. S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley granted the school board a week in which to file a supplemental brief and indicated it would be some time before he issued a decision.

Rogers contended that some Little Rock school officials had displayed incompetence in handling the racial crisis. He suggested that a student spy system would have been helpful in identifying instigators of disorders inside the school.

Salten said he personally could operate Central High successfully next year without the presence of troops.

After the NAACP witnesses had listed steps they would have taken to control discipline at Central High during last year's crisis, Little Rock School Supt. Virgil Blossom said the steps enumerated already had been followed.

Chrysler's dispute resulted from company action in handing out brief suspensions to some UAW stewards and committeemen in Chrysler plants across the country. Chrysler denied UAW charges that it was trying to provoke workers into a strike. The company said the only ones disciplined were those who had flatly refused to go to work.

Ford, whose workers have not been involved in any incidents, met with the UAW Thursday and had another session today, as did GM. Chrysler and the UAW will meet again Monday.

Circleville Legion Post Hosts 7th District Session

Circleville American Legion Hall Adkins Post 134 will be host Sunday for the seventh District American Legion Convention to be held in the Memorial Hall.

Hermon Devor, first vice commander of the Ohio American Legion will be the guest speaker. Devor, Greenville, is following a career of steady Legion activity that began when he was discharged from the Air Force after three and half years of service in World War II. He comes from Erk Cottrell Post No. 140 at Greenville, and subsequently served six years as post service officer.

Devor was later adjutant and served two terms as commander of the Darke County Legion council.

The seven-county Third District in western Ohio selected him as commander twice, and as a delegate to national conventions eight times. He was district national security chairman five years, and in three of these was Ohio chairman. He was a national vice-chairman for two years of a section of the Legion's national security committee.

DEVOR served two years as Darke county chairman of the March of Dimes, and three years as district chairman of the "Gifts

State's Employees Asking Pay Boost

COLUMBUS (AP)—State employees asked Gov. C. William O'Neill today to include a cost-of-living pay raise in his call for a special session of the Ohio Legislature this month.

The request came from the Ohio Civil Service Employees Assn. The state has about 40,000 workers.

The association said present law provides a pay increase for each six-point rise in the consumer's price index up to 116, which hit the total two years ago. The index now stands at 123.3, up 7.3 points from the index figure on which the last previous increase was granted, the association reported.

Idle Total Still Drops

Total Employment Tops 64 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today an improved employment situation in May. There was a substantial rise among those employed and a decline in the number of idle workers.

A joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments put May employment at 64,061,000, up 1,154,000 from April. Unemployment declined by 216,000, up 1,154,000 from April, since January.

The job gain was attributed to seasonal expansion in agriculture and service employment plus a bigger than usual gain in construction. The report said a sharp pickup in outdoor work represented in part recovery from delay caused by especially bad weather earlier in the year.

The employment rise in May was much greater than the drop in unemployment primarily because most of those joining the farm labor force were housewives and students who had been outside the labor force in April.

THE REPORT said sizable reductions in unemployment among previously jobless workers were partially offset by an increasing number of students seeking summer jobs. This student influx into the labor force is expected to push the unemployment total well over the five million mark in June or July.

Employment in manufacturing, where recession effects have been most severe, declined by 67,000 to 15 million, but this was described as only slightly more than the seasonal trend for the month.

Compared with a year ago, manufacturing employment is down by 1,700,000, with more than four-fifths of it centered in durable goods industries.

Employment in steel mills and auto plants in mid-May held close to April levels in contrast to large declines in previous months.

The May drop of 216,000 in unemployment was a bit better than usual for this time of year. The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment as a proportion of the labor force dropped to 7.2 per cent from its high of 7.5 per cent in April. This was the first reduction since the rate started climbing last summer.

Unemployment among workers insured for jobless payments declined in all but four states in May, dropping by 350,000 to three million.

In April employment was 62,907,000, down about 1,350,000 from last year, and unemployment was 5,120,000, about double the figure a year ago.

Cheesey Thief Answers Phone

An unorthodox thief has Circleville Police shaking their collective heads today.

Last night, between 10:10 and 10:48 p. m. he entered the John Himrod residence, Himrod Drive. He ate a dill pickle and a small piece of cheese and left muddy tracks in the house.

What stumps the police? The intruder answered the phone twice and had conversations with Himrod's mother and a neighbor while feasting. He just told them that "John is out, but will be back."

Few self-respecting burglars answer the phone while in the midst of a job.

Blacksmith, 79, Bows to Air Age

YORK SPRINGS, Pa. (AP)—George M. Myers, a blacksmith whose pride would not permit him to accept the automobile, has finally bowed to the space age.

He plans to visit New York next week, traveling by plane.

The trip grew out of a taunt that he had never traveled far from his Pennsylvania home.

"Why don't you pick yourself up and go on a plane trip?" one of his daughters asked.

Politicians See 'New' Bill O'Neill With Liberal Tilt

By ART PARKS
AP Staff Writer

COLUMBUS (AP)—Politicians have been wondering in recent weeks whether they have been looking at a "new" Bill O'Neill—a governor with more of a liberal tilt.

For a governor who obviously wanted no controversy in his first term in office, O'Neill has startled politicians by venturing into such trouble areas as unemployment compensation and poor relief.

To illustrate: O'Neill is asking the upcoming special session of the Legislature to approve an extra 13 weeks of benefits for the jobless.

He is planning to ask extra $1 million for the state's share of local poor relief costs.

He even conceded that the whole question of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits (SUB) will be wide open to the consideration of lawmakers when they meet in special session "on or before June 30."

Can this be the same Bill O'Neill who, last year, wanted no part of a fight?

HAVE HIS ideas changed in recent weeks?

"I'm the same Bill O'Neill as before," he says. "Now some things have developed that are of the utmost importance—things that demand action."

"Some of the seers will tell you that they have been calling for action for a year or more. The facts are that an economic situation has developed which could not be foreseen a year ago."

The state is not going to stand still. We are going to move to do the things that need to be done.

"I have not changed my basic ideas at all. Some of them are being expressed for the first time for the simple reason this is the first time they needed to be expressed."

Since his heart attack last January (which probably gave him a longer period of quiet than he ever had in his adult life) Ohio's Republican governor has what appears to be a "take-charge" attitude for the first time.

O'Neill probably faces a stiff test of his leadership in the coming special session of the Legislature. A serious slip during those days could be politically fatal—and O'Neill appears to sense it.

But you get the idea he's rather looking forward to a fight.

Businessmen Cautiously OK Slah in Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A number of leading businessmen have given qualified backing to tax cutting as an anti-recession measure.

But even as their views were made public Thursday, the House voted to continue present tax rates on corporation income and certain items such as automobiles, cigarettes and liquor.

Although many House members would like to cut taxes this election year, they went along with the decision of their leaders and the Eisenhower administration against any reduction at this session. The main reason: prospective big budget deficits.

The Senate is expected to follow the same course, although efforts probably will be made there to gain tax relief for the ailing automobile and rail industries.

The business leaders, responding to a questionnaire from the Senate Finance Committee, were by no means enthusiastic about the idea of tax reduction.

Most of the 14 men polled by the committee favored caution in employing government action to bring about an economic upturn. There were expressions of concern that such action might spur inflation.

In a separate study, the staff of the Senate House Economic Committee said that since its last analysis in February "economic activity has continued to decline and there are as yet few signs of an early upturn."

Methodists Plan Talks on Labor Dispute

LAKESIDE (AP)—The Ohio Methodist Conference wants its churches to provide forums for discussion of a proposal that the union shop be banned by state law.

After more than an hour's discussion Thursday, 1,400 delegates to the conference's annual session approved the forum idea. This followed rejection of a resolution from the National Council of Churches declaring that the union shop should not be a subject of state law but a matter to be settled by labor and management at the bargaining table.

The resolution adopted urged 11 districts, which include some 300,000 members, to follow the pattern of the conference itself in discussing the issue.

"Because there is a great difference of opinion with regard to the proposed 'right-to-work' legislation, we urge individual districts in the conference to set up fact-finding forums, with representatives of both management and labor invited to express their views and provide Christians with intelligent interpretations."

The Methodist stand was in contrast to the Ohio Roman Catholic bishops' view which firmly rejected the entire ban idea.

St. Clairsville Aid Official To Be Fired

COLUMBUS (AP)—John C. Wyatt, now under a 30-day suspension from his $460-a-month job as sub-division manager of the Aid for the Aged office in St. Clairsville, will be removed from the job next Wednesday.

In approving the removal, Mrs. Margaret A. Ireland, state welfare director, accused Wyatt of being insubordinate, inefficient, incompetent and neglectful of duty.

Farm Owner Seeks Halt of Water System

Harry and Evelyn Montelius, Route 1, Circleville, yesterday filed a petition in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for a permanent injunction against the Rev. Sam C. Elsea, 141 W. High St.

The Montelius petition, filed by attorneys Lemuel B. Weldon and Robert H. Huffer, stated that Mr. Elsea has installed an irrigation system on his premises. The premises in question is a truck farm near the Montelius farm on the Kingston Pike, bordering the Scippo Creek Bridge.

Montelius continued stating that the irrigation system was pumping water from Scippo Creek to the detriment of the plaintiff's 60 head of cattle, who relied solely on the water from Scippo Creek for their water.

The plaintiff said he has had no remedy at law for the damage done or threatened to be done and that the Rev. Elsea has refused to terminate his operation. Montelius related that if his process is allowed to continue the creek will run dry and leave only stagnant pools of water, unfit for livestock consumption.

The petition asked for Mr. Elsea to be permanently enjoined from irrigating from Scippo Creek and also asked for temporary injunction until final ruling by the court.

Stock Mart Edges Toward Another High

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected industrials moved forward in an erratic stock market early this afternoon to push the general price level toward another high for the year. Trading was fairly active.

Leading rails showed little change. Key stocks gained narrowly, generally within a point. Small losses and unchanged prices were scattered.

Oils, aircrafts, motors and steels were mostly higher. Rubbers and motion picture stocks also showed plus signs. Chemicals, base metals and tobaccos were irregular.

Market background included the report of the House-Senate Economic committee which said the nation's economy might not get back on its feet until late 1960. Meanwhile, auto assemblies were estimated at a higher rate.

The news that unemployment had dropped below five million for the first time since January was another bullish factor.

Studebaker-Packard jumped 1/2 to 6 on a block of 6,000 shares. American added about a point, and American Tobacco dropped a major fraction.

Tins of about a point were made by Sinclair, Texas Co. and Zenith. Du Pont's price fluttered uncertainly, erasing a one-point gain.

U.S. government bonds improved.

College Boys Get Itchy; Panty Raids Hit 2 Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's a good thing the school year is about over. Ohio's college boys seem to be getting itchy.

Two Buckeye campuses have been the scenes of annual spring madness—panty raids. At Baldwin-Wallace near Cleveland, a raid was comparatively "orderly."

But at Kent State University, 13 male students ended up paying fines and hearing a stern lecture for their part in a mass raid on a women's dormitory.

Mayor Raymond E. Manchester of Kent, a former dean of men at the university, levied the fines resulting from a two-hour demonstration by 1,500 men students early Thursday. When the 13 charged with disorderly conduct appeared before him, the mayor commented:

"Would you like to have a statement printed on your diploma to the effect that you are not only proficient in arts and sciences, but also distinguished yourself in panty raids and public rioting?"

IN ALL, 29 MEN, none of them seniors, were suspended from the university for a year.

Except for two $10 fines and one $35 fine, the men were assessed $25 and costs and sentenced to 11 days in jail, with the jail stay suspended when the fine is paid.

Police broke up an attempted raid on a women's dormitory early today at Baldwin-Wallace.

A crowd estimated at between 50 and 100 male students gathered outside Findley Hall shortly after midnight. A police officer's shirt was torn and one person was arrested in a brief scuffle, but no one was injured.

"THE CROWD was dispersed as best we could," a policeman said. "Then it was just a matter of keeping order. This is a yearly event out here."

Girls in the dormitory egged the crowd on with shouts of "chicken" from the dormitory windows, police said.

British Dejected; No Mac-Ike Golf Battle Ahead

LONDON (AP)—"The Prime Minister is not taking his golf clubs," the terse bulletin said. And so hopes of recapturing some of the Empire's old glories sank today with the evening sun.

Prime Minister Macmillan is to leave tonight for a visit to the United States. He'll stay in Washington, which abounds in golf courses.

Macmillan went up to Scotland last week to rest and get ready for meetings with a fellow golfer, President Eisenhower. Macmillan spent a lot of time polishing up his golf.

British golf experts said Macmillan is two or three strokes better than Eisenhower. British cartoonists saw Macmillan winning back some of Britain's vanished glory in a golf battle.

And now this bulletin from the British Press Assn. No golf clubs for Macmillan.

Negro Jailed; Banned from White School

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Negro Prof. Clemon King earned an isolated jail cell today for his efforts to cross the state's rigid racial lines. His attempt to enter the University of Mississippi is ended.

The 37-year-old former faculty member at the all-Negro Alcorn A&M (Miss.) College was whisked away by state highway patrolmen Thursday when he tried to enter the summer session at the university.

His whereabouts were top secret until late Thursday night. The Associated Press learned he was being held in a tiny cell on the top floor of the state highway patrol headquarters here.

The tall, Georgia-born King said that "I just want to get out of here. I don't know what they're going to do. I wouldn't bother it any more. I would leave it alone."

But state authorities may not leave King alone. They indicated he would be examined by physicians. Chancery Clerk J. B. How-

GI, Patrol Dog Linked to Thefts

WESTHAMPTON BEACH, N. Y. (AP)—A young airman has been accused of using his German shepherd patrol dog as a lookout while he committed a series of burglaries and a holdup.

Charged Thursday with first-degree robbery was Alvin Richard Weinert, 25, attached to the Suffolk County Air Force Base here.

Weinert was one of a dozen man-dog teams which patrol the base. About three weeks ago, he reported that he and his dog chased a safe cracker. Authorities became suspicious.

He said he admitted burglarizing quarters at the base and holding up a gas station at nearby Calverton. Total loot: $1,200.

Farm Owner Seeks Halt of Water System

Harry and Evelyn Montelius, Route 1, Circleville, yesterday filed a petition in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for a permanent injunction against the Rev. Sam C. Elsea, 141 W. High St.

The Montelius petition, filed by attorneys Lemuel B. Weiden and Robert H. Huffer, stated that Mr. Elsea has installed an irrigation system on his premises. The premises in question is a truck farm near the Montelius farm on the Kingston Pike, bordering the Scippo Creek Bridge.

Montelius continued stating that the irrigation system was pumping water from Scippo Creek to the detriment of the plaintiff's 60 head of cattle, who relied solely on the water from Scippo Creek for their water.

The plaintiff said he has had no remedy at law for the damage done or threatened to be done and that the Rev. Elsea has refused to terminate his operation. Montelius related that if his process is allowed to continue the creek will run dry and leave only stagnant pools of water, unfit for livestock consumption.

The petition asked for Mr. Elsea to be permanently enjoined from irrigating from Scippo Creek and also asked for temporary injunction until final ruling by the court.

Stock Mart Edges Toward Another High

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected industrial moved forward in an erratic stock market early this afternoon to push the general price level toward another high for the year. Trading was fairly active.

Leading rails showed little change.

Key stocks gained narrowly, generally within a point. Small losses and unchanged prices were scattered.

Oils, aircrafts, motors and steels were mostly higher. Rubbers and motion picture stocks also showed plus signs. Chemicals, base metals and tobaccos were irregular.

Market background included the report of the House-Senate Economic committee which said the nation's economy might not get back on its feet until late 1960. Meanwhile, auto assemblies were estimated at a higher rate.

The news that unemployment had dropped below five million for the first time since January was another bullish factor.

Studebaker - Packard jumped 1/2 to 6 on a block of 6,000 shares. American added a fraction.

Lorillard added about a point, and American Tobacco dropped a major fraction.

Tins of about a point were made by Sinclair, Texas Co. and Zenith. Du Pont's price fluttered uncertainly, erasing a one-point gain.

U.S. government bonds improved.

College Boys Get Itchy; Panty Raids Hit 2 Campuses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's a good thing the school year is about over. Ohio's college boys seem to be getting itchy.

Two Buckeye campuses have been the scenes of annual spring madness—panty raids. At Baldwin-Wallace near Cleveland, a raid was comparatively "orderly."

But at Kent State University, 13 male students ended up paying fines and hearing a stern lecture for their part in a mass raid on a women's dormitory.

Mayor Raymond E. Manchester of Kent, a former dean of men at the university, levied the fines resulting from a two-hour demonstration by 1,500 men students early Thursday. When the 13 charged with disorderly conduct appeared before him, the mayor commented:

"Would you like to have a statement printed on your diploma to the effect that you are not only proficient in arts and sciences, but also distinguished yourself in panty raids and public rioting?"

IN ALL, 29 MEN, none of them seniors, were suspended from the university for a year.

Except for two $10 fines and one $35 fine, the men were assessed $25 and costs and sentenced to 11 days in jail, with the jail stay suspended when the fine is paid.

Police broke up an attempted raid on a women's dormitory early today at Baldwin-Wallace.

A crowd estimated at between 50 and 100 male students gathered outside Findley Hall shortly after midnight. A police officer's shirt was torn and one person was arrested in a brief scuffle, but no one was injured.

"THE CROWD was dispersed as best we could," a policeman said. "Then it was just a matter of keeping order. This is a yearly event out here."

Girls in the dormitory egged the crowd on with shouts of "chicken" from the dormitory windows, police said.

British Dejected; No Mac-Ike Golf Battle Ahead

LONDON (P)—"The Prime Minister is not taking his golf clubs," the terse bulletin said.

And so hopes of recapturing some of the Empire's old glories sank today with the evening sun.

Prime Minister Macmillan is to leave tonight for a visit to the United States. He'll stay in Washington, which abounds in golf courses.

Macmillan went up to Scotland last week to rest and get ready for meetings with a fellow golfer, President Eisenhower. Macmillan spent a lot of time polishing up his golf.

British golf experts said Macmillan is two or three strokes better than Eisenhower. British cartoonists saw Macmillan winning back some of Britain's vanished glory in a golf battle.

And now this bulletin from the British Press Assn. No golf clubs for Macmillan.

Negro Jailed; Banned from White School

JACKSON, Miss. (P)—Negro Prof. Clennon King earned an isolated jail cell today for his efforts to cross the state's rigid racial lines. His attempt to enter the University of Mississippi is ended.

The 37-year-old former faculty member at the all-Negro Alcorn A&M (Miss.) College was whisked away by state highway patrolmen Thursday when he tried to enter the summer session at the university.

His whereabouts were top secret until late Thursday night. The Associated Press learned he was being held in a tiny cell on the top floor of the state highway patrol headquarters here.

The tall, Georgia-born King said that "I just want to get out of here. I don't know what they're going to do. I wouldn't bother it any more. I would leave it alone."

But state authorities may not leave King alone. They indicated he would be examined by physicians. Chancery Clerk J. B. How-

Tip on Travel: Pack Less, Not More, than You Want

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Staff Writer

Next to leaving home an essential, the worst thing a traveler can do is take along too much.

"Much of the pleasure in a trip can be lost because of too much luggage," insists Miss Frances Knight—who besides handing out passports for American tourists headed overseas does considerable traveling on her own. She recently went on a five-week trip around the world, carrying one (yes, only ONE) 27-inch suitcase.

Miss Knight—in public life the director of the State Department's Passport Office and in private the wife of magazine publisher Wayne Parrish—appeared on television recently, doing a brief and incomplete demonstration of her packing techniques on "Person to Person." The result was such a flood of letters asking for a complete blueprint of her streamlined luggage and wardrobe that she now has set it down in complete detail.

"I limit myself to one suitcase whether it is for a long or short trip," she says. "For a short trip I take a small overnight case, and for a long trip I use a 27-inch suit case."

Miss Knight is a firm believer in planning and gives herself a week's time to pack for a long trip. In spare moments she puts in such essentials as toothbrush and paste, brush, comb, manicure set, travel alarm clock, small flashlight and a cosmetics kit. Miss Knight has reduced it to last item to make up, an all-purpose face cream, a deodorant, liquid shampoo containers (each containing enough for one shampoo) and a tube of quick-lather soap for use in hard water and other small grooming aids. She substitutes cleansing tissues for handkerchiefs.

Assembling her travel wardrobe is a longer process. She wears one set of lingerie and packs another—both made of drip-dry fabric—and a combination pajama-robe-slipper set of similar material.

"I allow nothing to interfere with a nightly schedule of doing my laundry," she says. "I take a tablespoonful of a detergent soap powder and seal it in a small envelope, allowing one envelope for each washing while on my trip."

Her outside clothes are carefully chosen—dresses, hats and shoes of one basic color with variations and accents from colorful accessories. She finds dark dresses, of course, more practical than light. For summer travel she takes dresses and suits made of easy-to-laundry synthetic fabrics.

"It is very simple to pack three or four dresses in a suitcase, providing they are not bouffant and fluffy," she has found. "I am partial to drip-dry sweaters and blouses which can be made dressy with scarves or beaded collars. I usually take two sweaters and two blouses. I take two pairs of shoes in addition to the pair in which I travel. I put my stockings, belts and gloves in the shoes to conserve space."

Her hats are chosen partly for their crushproof qualities, and they compliment the dresses and suit. She uses a light wool stole instead of an evening jacket. She carries a combination raincoat, hat and boots which fold into a plastic bag.

For the maintenance of her wardrobe she has a small travel iron which is convertible for use in foreign electric outlets, and a small sewing kit.

A reversible topcoat and a big travelling handbag complete the wardrobe. The handbag is large enough to hold a small jewelry case, identification papers, tickets, passport, cosmetics, a solid perfume, and such other odds and ends as a woman needs often.

"It is not necessary to be overburdened with extras," says Miss Knight, "because there are few places in the world today where you cannot purchase any of the items which may break or be mislaid. The only extra which is advisable would be eyeglasses if you need them."

In the past year, Miss Knight has done much traveling around the Passport Office's field offices throughout the country—much of the time carrying her overnight bag. In the coming months, her job will take her to passport offices in our embassies and consulates, so the 27-inch suitcase will be working overtime.

"Actually," she confesses, "I had to work this packing system out. My husband won't let me take more than one suitcase on a trip."

2 Boys Die At Play on Rail Trestle

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—Little boys concentrate hard on their play. It's a habit that cost Jimmy Hazuka, 10, and his brother, Ronald, 8, their lives.

The brothers and Ted Mann, 9, were playing on the Erie Railroad trestle here late Thursday.

They were looking down at the ties when engineer John L. Son-ted, who was closest to the end of the trestle, just managed to run to safety. The Hazuka boys had been a few steps ahead of him and couldn't retreat a time. High steel barriers prevented the boys from jumping to the clear east-bound track or off the bridge.

"We were playing a game along the tracks to see who could stay on a track the longest," Ted recalled.

"Then we started walking across the trestle. I heard Ronald yell, 'There's a train.' We were walking toward the train."

"I saw its light. I turned around and ran."

"If Ronald hadn't yelled, I would have got hit, too. I didn't hear a bell or whistle or anything."

Modern Mother's Hero Said To Be Virile Cowboy of TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother has moved right into junior's footsteps and adopted the American cowboy as her hero symbol, TV producer Ted Rogers says.

Rogers has been thinking long thoughts on the subject in preparation for his Wide, Wide World study of that entertainment form this Sunday.

"Women," says Rogers, "like Westerns because cowboys are probably one of the last examples of the individual being more important than the group. To them, it is the cowboy versus the organization man."

"She looks at her TV screen, and then she looks at her husband, with an apron tied around his paunch, helping with the dishes."

"The cowboy is masculine, virile, decisive, possessive. When he has problems, he just pulls out his gun and settle the matter. If he doesn't like his job or his town, he just climbs on his horse and rides into the sunset."

"But if her husband doesn't like his boss, he can't shoot him. He just goes around mumbling and grumbling and getting ulcers."

The American woman too, resents her own situation, Rogers adds.

"She wants to be the woman of the West," he says flatly. "That rain it implied the "hot" rain came from U. S. nuclear tests.

In an English-language propaganda broadcast, the Communists said the Soviet ship Vityazi was doused by radioactive rain "over 1,800 miles west of the Marshall Islands where the United States has been testing atomic bombs."

woman was the center of attraction and men were competing for her favors—there were so few of them, you know. She wants to be fought over. She wants to contribute something. She knows that she should go and push the button to start the washing machine, but she really wants to stand by the broken window loading the carbine for her husband or hold the villains at bay with a Colt .45 while her admirer finds the mortgage that is going to save the ranch."

Rogers, who has looked long and hard at old motion pictures and done hours of studying insists that the real adult Western—as opposed to the old-fashioned kiddie show Westerner—is "one in which you really care about what happens to the characters."

"The good ones, with good story lines and values, are the ones which are going to last," he says. "You just can't beat entertainment that combines a good story, action, masculinity, morality symbols and outdoor grandeur—and appeals to everybody in the family."

Sonja Henie's Ice Skates Still Flashing over Rink

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You'd think that Sonja Henie would want to hang up her skates forever.

Yet she's on the ice again. In fact, she has been up at 6 in the morning to skim over the rink at the Pan Pacific Auditorium for three hours.

"It was the only time I could get the ice," she explained. The auditorium was on a 24-hour schedule, with one ice show appearing there and two others rehearsing.

Why all this activity on Sonja's part? She's leaving for Europe to film a 90-minute TV spectacular that might be the start of a series.

Sonja plans to go to Brussels, where she has an ice show appearing at the World's Fair. She'll rehearse the musical numbers there, then transport the company to London to film them. Afterward, the story part of the spectacular will be shot around London.

"If the show is a success, we'll do others in various other big cities of the world," she said. "The films will be made in color, so there is the possibility of showing them in theaters, too."

When I marveled at her early-morning practice sessions, she replied that they're not unusual with her.

"I always take at least two months to get into shape for an appearance," she said. "I would not appear if I wasn't in top condition. The public expects to see you at your best, and I won't disappoint them."

But wouldn't she like to say to heck with it and skip the rigorous routine?

"Sometimes it is hard to get back for the first day or so," she admitted. "But then I find that I enjoy it so that I am happy I returned. I wouldn't do it if I didn't enjoy it."

Sonja indicated she will limit her future work to TV and occasional in-person appearances.

"No more tours," she said. "It would be fun to play a couple of cities with a show, but it isn't practical. Costs have risen fantastically. When I first went on the road with a show, it cost $90,000. Now an ice show runs from $700,000 to $800,000."

Polio Victim Graduates as Honor Student

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—A 21-year-old honors student from Washington, D. C., mounts the platform at Washington and Lee University today to deliver the valedictory.

For John Monk-Larson it will be more than just the final bright touch on an outstanding college career. It will also be the high point in a 13-year battle against polio.

And, says Larson, had it not been for his handicap, he might not have done so well in college. Outside interests would have encroached on the time he devoted to studies, he says.

Larson was stricken in 1945. He lost the use of both arms but had some control of his right hand.

His affliction did not stop him from graduating from St. Albans School in Washington with honors. At W&L, as a political science major, he received only one "B" in an otherwise all "A" report. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity in his junior year.

This summer Larson will be tutored in French and German and next year will attend the Yale University graduate school on a scholarship. He hopes to continue his work toward a Ph.D. and eventually teach.

DeGaulle Aide Tipped As New U.S. Envoy

BONN, Germany (AP)—French diplomatic sources reported today that Premier DeGaulle is expected to put Jacques Soustelle on the shelf by naming him France's ambassador to the United States.

Sending the firebrand Gaullist deputy to Washington would please the moderates and leftists whose support De Gaulle needs in France. But it would infuriate the extreme rightists in France and Algeria who have been demanding he take a position of power in De Gaulle's government.

Tip on Travel: Pack Less, Not More, than You Want

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Staff Writer

Next to leaving home an essential, the worst thing a traveler can do is take along too much. "Much of the pleasure in a trip can be lost because of too much luggage," insists Miss Frances Knight—who besides handing out passports for American tourists headed overseas does considerable traveling on her own. She recently went on a five-week trip around the world, carrying one (yes, only ONE) 27-inch suitcase.

Miss Knight—in public life the director of the State Department's Passport Office and in private the wife of magazine publisher Wayne Parrish—appeared on television recently, doing a brief and incomplete demonstration of her packing techniques on "Person to Person." The result was such a flood of letters asking for a complete blueprint of her streamlined luggage and wardrobe that she now has set it down in complete detail. "I limit myself to one suitcase whether it is for a long or short trip," she says. "For a short trip I take a small overnight case, and for a long trip I use a 27-inch suitcase."

Miss Knight is a firm believer in planning and gives herself a week's time to pack for a long trip. In spare moments she puts in such essentials as toothbrush and paste, brush, comb, manicure set, travel alarm clock, small flashlight and a cosmetics kit. Miss Knight has reduced it to last item to make up, an all-purpose face cream, a deodorant, liquid shampoo containers (each containing enough for one shampoo) and a tube of quick-lather soap for use in hard water and other small grooming aids. She substitutes cleansing tissues for handkerchiefs.

Assembling her travel wardrobe is a longer process. She wears one set of lingerie and packs another—both made of drip-dry fabric—and a combination pajama-robe-slipper set of similar material.

"I allow nothing to interfere with a nightly schedule of doing my laundry," she says. "I take a tablespoonful of a detergent soap powder and seal it in a small envelope, allowing one envelope for each washing while on my trip."

Her outside clothes are carefully chosen—dresses, hats and shoes of one basic color with variations and accents from colorful accessories. She finds dark dresses, of course, more practical than light. For summer travel she takes dresses and suits made of easy-to-laundry synthetic fabrics.

"It is very simple to pack three or four dresses in a suitcase, providing they are not bouffant and fluffy," she has found. "I am partial to drip-dry sweaters and blouses which can be made dressy with scarves or beaded collars. I usually take two sweaters and two blouses. I take two pairs of shoes in addition to the pair in which I travel. I put my stockings, belts and gloves in the shoes to conserve space."

Her hats are chosen partly for their crushproof qualities, and they complement the dresses and suit. She uses a light wool stole instead of an evening jacket. She carries a combination raincoat, hat and boots which fold into a plastic bag.

For the maintenance of her wardrobe she has a small travel iron which is convertible for use in foreign electric outlets, and a small sewing kit.

A reversible topcoat and a big traveling handbag complete the wardrobe. The handbag is large enough to hold a small jewelry case, identification papers, tickets, passport, cosmetics, a solid perfume, and such other odds and ends as a woman needs often.

"It is not necessary to be overburdened with extras," says Miss Knight, "because there are few places in the world today where you cannot purchase any of the items which may break or be mislaid. The only extra which is advisable would be eyeglasses if you need them."

In the past year, Miss Knight has done much traveling around the Passport Office's field offices throughout the country—much of the time carrying her overnight bag. In the coming months, her job will take her to passport offices in our embassies and consulates, so the 27-inch suitcase will be working overtime.

"Actually," she confesses, "I had to work this packing system out. My husband won't let me take more than one suitcase on a trip."

Sonja Henie's Ice Skates Still Flashing over Rink

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You'd think that Sonja Henie would want to hang up her skates forever.

Yet she's on the ice again. In fact, she has been up at 6 in the morning to skim over the rink at the Pan Pacific Auditorium for three hours.

"It was the only time I could get the ice," she explained. The auditorium was on a 24-hour schedule, with one ice show appearing there and two others rehearsing.

Why all this activity on Sonja's part? She's leaving for Europe to film a 90-minute TV spectacular that might be the start of a series.

Sonja plans to go to Brussels, where she has an ice show appearing at the World's Fair. She'll rehearse the musical numbers there, then transport the company to London to film them. Afterward, the story part of the spectacular will be shot around London.

"If the show is a success, we'll do others in various other big cities of the world," she said. "The films will be made in color, so there is the possibility of showing them in theaters, too."

When I marveled at her early-morning practice sessions, she replied that they're not unusual with her.

"I always take at least two months to get into shape for an appearance," she said. "I would not appear if I wasn't in top condition. The public expects to see you at your best, and I won't disappoint them."

But wouldn't she like to say to heck with it and skip the rigorous routine?

"Sometimes it is hard to get back for the first day or so," she admitted. "But then I find that I enjoy it so that I am happy I returned. I wouldn't do it if I didn't enjoy it."

Sonja indicated she will limit her future work to TV and occasional in-person appearances.

"No more tours," she said. "It would be fun to play a couple of cities with a show, but it isn't practical. Costs have risen fantastically. When I first went on the road with a show, it cost $30,000. Now an ice show runs from $700,000 to $800,000."

Polio Victim Graduates as Honor Student

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—A 21-year-old honors student from Washington, D. C., mounts the platform at Washington and Lee University today to deliver the valedictory.

For John Monk Larson it will be more than just the final bright touch on an outstanding college career. It will also be the high point in a 13-year battle against polio.

And, says Larson, had it not been for his handicap, he might not have done so well in college. Outside interests would have encroached on the time he devoted to studies, he says.

Larson was stricken in 1945. He lost the use of both arms but had some control of his right hand.

His affliction did not stop him from graduating from St. Albans School in Washington with honors. At W&L, as a political science major, he received only one "B" in an otherwise all "A" report. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity in his junior year.

This summer Larson will be tutored in French and German and next year will attend the Yale University graduate school on a scholarship. He hopes to continue his work toward a Ph.D. and eventually teach.

2 Boys Die At Play on Rail Trestle

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—Little boys concentrate hard on their play. It's a habit that cost Jimmy Hazuka, 10, and his brother, Ronald, 8, their lives.

The brothers and Ted Mann, 9, were playing on the Erie Railroad trestle here late Thursday.

They were looking down at the ties when engineer John L. Sonabout 25 car lengths ahead and hit the horn and airbrakes on his westbound freight. He and the crew estimated the train was moving along at 50 m.p.h.

Ted, who was closest to the end of the trestle, just managed to run to safety. The Hazuka boys had been a few steps ahead of him and could not retreat in time. High steel barriers prevented the boys from jumping to the clear east-bound track or off the bridge.

"We were playing a game along the tracks to see who could stay on a track the longest," Ted recalled.

"Then we started walking across the trestle. I heard Ronald yell, 'There's a train.' We were walking toward the train."

"I saw its light. I turned around and ran."

"If Ronald hadn't yelled, I would have got hit, too. I didn't hear a bell or whistle or anything."

Modern Mother's Hero Said To Be Virile Cowboy of TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Mother has moved right into junior's footsteps and adopted the American cowboy as her hero symbol, TV producer Ted Rogers says.

Rogers has been thinking long thoughts on the subject in preparation for his Wide, Wide World study of that entertainment form this Sunday.

"Women," says Rogers, "like Westerns because cowboys are probably one of the last examples of the individual being more important than the group. To them, it is the cowboy versus the organization man."

"She looks at her TV screen, and then she looks at her husband, with an apron tied around his waist, helping with the dishes."

"The cowboy is masculine, virile, decisive, possessive. When he has problems, he just pulls out his gun and settles the matter. If he doesn't like his job or his town, he just climbs on his horse and rides into the sunset."

"But if her husband doesn't like his boss, he can't shoot him. He just goes around mumbling and grumbling and getting ulcers."

The American woman too, represents her own situation, Rogers adds.

"She wants to be the woman of the West," he says flatly. "That rain it implied the "hot" rain came from U. S. nuclear tests.

In an English-language propaganda broadcast, the Communists said the Soviet ship Vityaz was doused by radioactive rain "over 1,800 miles west of the Marshall Islands where the United States has been testing atomic bombs."

Summer Delinquency May Rise

The majority of the nation's high school and college boys between 15 and 20 years of age and almost half of the girls of the same age group normally take summer-time jobs. This year their prospects are not as good as usual.

These teenagers, numbering about 13.5 billion, had earnings last summer estimated by a New York research firm at $1.5 billion. The buying power of this income in the clothing, the things to eat, the phonograph records and the other things youth wants is important to the nation's economy.

The education the youngsters of more serious purpose can buy with it is important in the future of the nation as well as the future of the young men and women who must pay their own way in whole or in part. No less important, jobs serve to occupy the minds and time of young people who otherwise might be left in the idleness that can beget trouble.

The summer job situation, with many employers shaving expenses by hiring fewer summer replacements, has brought from some federal officials concerned with such things a warning against a summer-time rise in juvenile delinquency. They are concerned with a vacuum that can be filled, it is said, by a sound recreation program wherever youth faces summertime idleness.

Supplying activities for idle minds and hands is a task for everyone—not only public officials. Youth wants things to do.

New Sub Changes Tactics

If "unofficial sources" can be credited, the new U. S. submarine Skipjack will be able to do 45 knots under her nuclear power below the surface! That's about 50 land mph, and that's moving for any good-sized vessel on the surface. The fastest destroyers cannot do that well.

A submarine capable of such speed is capable of maneuverability in lightning-like turns and twists. Hence the Navy has fitted the Skipjack with gear to permit her to be "flown" through the water in the manner of an aircraft in the air. She will have a pilot and co-pilot—strapped into their seats for the fast maneuvers. Each will have an airplane type stick to control diving planes and rudder together for coordinated action.

The Skipjack is no slouch for size, either—3,000 tons, 250 feet long. Will the Skipjack be equipped for the Navy's Polaris ballistic missile along with other nuclear submarines? It's accepted nowadays that the submarine is coming into its own as a capital ship of the fleet.

An old-fashioned diesel-electric or obsolescent atom submarine can provide a missile-launching platform almost impossible for enemy reconnaissance to get a fix on. How much harder will it be, then, for a bunch of baddies to put salt on the tail of this new bird of the sea?

The old adage that jokes never die is only partly correct. Street car jokes have finally gone the way of street cars.

National Flower: Dandelion

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If America is to wear a national flower in its buttonhole, why not make it the dandelion?

Congress is periodically petitioned to name an official U.S. flower, but so far has ducked a vote. This issue could cause a lot of statesmanlike heads to roll—like petals at the first frost.

Garden lovers are a passionate folk. Knock their favorite flower, and it's worse than kicking their dog around. The angry sap rises in them. The wise politician realizes that picking a national flower could easily lead to a floral war between the states.

Right now there are two lobbies besieging Congress—some ladies from Atlanta, ardent advocates of the rose; a Midwest contingent who thinks the corn tassel should be the tossing symbol of our land.

The rose lovers, of course, are strictly traditionalists and are the kind of people who pick the New York Yankees every year to win the American League pennant.

Against them is the opinion of many that the rose is a garden snob and not democratic enough to represent America.

The corn tassel crowd claims that the corn tassel is as American as the Pocahontas and, furthermore, is the bright harbinger of two of mankind's greatest pleasures—bacon and bourbon. One criticism against it: It is almost as symbolic of a single region, the Middle West, as cotton is of the South.

The big problem Congress faces in selecting a national flower is how to avoid showing regional favoritism.

If it names the official flower of one state, it by implication offends the other states.

The only remaining possible

choice is the dandelion, the golden democrat of lawn and pasture. It is the true all-American flower, a rugged individualist that stands above class or creed. Or local partisanship.

It exports its seeds in clouds of white paratroopers that enrich with new beauty the backyards of the poor and the estates of the mighty. It is the stubborn friend of all. You can't even force this pal to leave you.

In good times you can admire its loveliness. In bad times, or good times, you can make wine from its blossoms, salad from its leaves, all kinds of medicines and a substitute coffee from its roots. It is beloved of children. You can hold its yellow glory under your best girl's chin and tell if she likes butter.

The easy way out for Congress is to vote the dandelion as the U.S. national flower—by acclamation.

Adam Powell Has System

By George Sokolsky

The Negro leaders of the Republican Party, at least one of whom may be responsible for Adam Clayton Powell's income tax troubles, spent most of the day at the New York County Committee headquarters in National Republican Club arguing with Thomas J. Curran, chairman, and Mrs. Preston Davis, vice chairman, about nominating a Democrat, who has a long record of left-wing associations, as the Republican candidate for Congress in Harlem.

No one made a speech favorable to Powell. No one spoke well or even kindly of him. In fact, the Negro leaders denounced him, spoke unfavorably of his character, etc. etc. Then they demanded he be nominated.

It was not that they had been corrupted. It was that they were afraid not to nominate him. They were afraid that they literally would not be able to walk the streets of Harlem if they failed to nominate him. The Democrats, to whom he belongs, threw him over; the Republicans, to whom he never belonged, dared not avoid him.

One Negro Republican leader blamed President Eisenhower for all the trouble. He said that when the Negroes of Harlem thought that Powell had ruined himself, a deal was made for Powell to come out for Eisenhower in the 1956 election and Powell was given an opportunity to exhibit his strength in his income tax case.

Fourteen months went by before the United States Attorney in New York did anything in the matter and then only after the Grand Jury threatened to go off on its own. This is something the Senate Judiciary Committee might look into one day.

In the broadest American sense, the Powell case is symptomatic of a frightening situation. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., is first of all a Negro. He has made being a Negro a career and a profession. He is a clergyman and a member of Congress, but most of all, he is a demagogue among his own people.

He keeps them stirred up and as long as they are stirred up, he will possess enormous power in New York City. He is a man of superb intelligence who, however, has his own game to play.

The Negro and Puerto Rican population in New York County can control the election. Such a situation is also developing in Brooklyn and the Bronx. The Puerto Ricans dislike being classed as Negroes which many of them are not, but they are discriminated against socially and economically in this community and they are being forced by circumstances to associate themselves with such a leadership as Powell's. They have produced no equal leadership of their own.

New York City is normally Democratic. Its leadership has moved from Irish to Italian. The Republican Party is moribund and lacks leadership altogether; it exists only on patronage, receiverships and similar perquisites that are exclusively advantageous to lawyers. Most of the kind of people usually Republican in Northern cities, live and vote in the suburbs, some even in other states like Connecticut and New Jersey where the tax situations are preferable.

I have long estimated that the next Mayor of New York might be a Negro. It lies in the votes and in the balance of power. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., has established it as a political fact that he is above party; that if his own party rejects him, he can take over another. He has established it beyond cavil, that he has taken over the Republican Party in New York County.

What occurred at the meeting of the Advisory Committee which opposed him unanimously in public, was that those who are most ambitious wanted to endorse him, and were caught in a political device and were forced to vote as they did.

They protested, however. The reason they were ready to support Powell was that they thought that Powell might support one of their own as the candidate for Governor. This argument only proved the development of Powell's power.

The methods employed by Powell are new here. They are organized mass pressures on racial issues. In a word, if Powell is indicted in an income tax case, the entire Negro race is indicted; if Powell is rejected for a nomination, the entire Negro race is rejected.

Powell, with diabolical brilliance, has so associated himself with the Negroes that he has become the symbol of race consciousness. This is something very new and frightfully dangerous in American life.

Ohio Sales Tax Take Runs Below '57 Total

COLUMBUS (AP)—During the week ended May 24, Ohio collected $3,596,246 in the state's 3 per cent sales tax, almost 11 per cent less than the amount collected for the same period last year.
The lag, however, is nothing new—it started last December.
State Treasurer Roger Tracy, in announcing the figures, said total collections this year are $198,829,433, or 4.3 per cent under the 1957 total of $207,849,139 for the same period. Last year collections were at their peak.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A VISITOR made his first trip to the local golf club, and picked up a match with an agreeable old coddler on the first tee. Both players were dreadful, but they managed to hack their way around the course in something like seven hours.

Back in the clubhouse, the visitor was astonished to be received by a round of cheers. "Congratulations!" explained one member. "You're the first man who's ever been able to stick it out for 18 holes with Ol' Whoozie. He's probably the most awful golfer who ever lived."

"Now just a moment," protested the visitor. "He beat me four up."

Much against his will, Voltaire was conned into speaking a small eulogy at the funeral of a famous acquaintance, whom he had loathed for years. Said Voltaire: "Here lies a man who was a sturdy patriot, a gifted writer, a loyal friend, and a faithful husband—provided, of course, that he is really dead."

Heart Ills and Motherhood

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Many women mistakenly believe that because they have, or have had, heart disease they cannot bear children. Unfortunately, this widespread idea has deprived many a woman of the happiness of motherhood.

The truth is that heart disease need not necessarily be a bar to pregnancy. In certain few cases of courses giving birth could be very dangerous to a woman suffering from severe heart trouble. It could be, and has been, fatal in some instances.

I don't want any woman to go through life under the impression that you can never become a mother just because your heart isn't quite as it should be. Your case might be entirely different from the next one. Only your doctor can decide whether pregnancy might harm your heart.

There is no question that pregnancy causes some work for the heart. During the first three months, this extra work load is not too great. As time goes on, each week the heart must work harder and harder since blood must be pumped to supply the unborn child as well as the mother.

There is no letup in this extra duty the heart must perform until about the eighth month. Day and night, every minute, every hour, the heart has to pump harder.

For some women with heart conditions this would be too much of a strain. For others it would not.

Generally, a doctor will base his decision on whether a heart patient can successfully have a baby upon the following conditions:

1. Amount of enlargement of the heart. The more serious conditions usually produce greater enlargement.
2. Amount of exercise the woman can perform without causing heart difficulties. If a normal exercise pattern can be maintained, the better the chance for a successful birth.
3. Presence of symptoms indicating heart damage. From these symptoms a doctor might be able to determine the advisability of having a baby.

Any irregularities of the heart beat. Combined with the other factors, the heartbeat pattern will help in the diagnosis of the seriousness of the heart condition.

Be wise and be safe. If you have

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe we're being brainwashed. Nikita Khrushchev, full of tricks, is working on us overtime.

Time was, in the not so olden days, when nations did business through formal notes and stiff, polite and frigid diplomatic visits.

This had its usefulness: a nation which wanted to feel dignified or superior could keep on doing so.

It was pretty much against the rules to get a rock through the front window or a palsy-walsy shout across the back fence.

There's no doubt this country for a long time felt superior to the Soviet Union. Then Nikita Khrushchev bounced in, too round and fat for a stuffed shirt.

Pretty soon, with his speeches and statements broadcast to the world, he began to drum it into the world's consciousness that the Soviet Union was anyone's equal.

Just as a nudge, in case there was still doubt, the Soviets shot up their Sputniks.

The past few months are a pretty good example of how the Soviets threw the old-fashioned rule book out the window.

Khrushchev's running-mate, the then Premier Bulganin, last December dashed off a note to President Eisenhower, proposing a summit conference.

Then, without politely waiting for this country to reveal the contents, the Soviets made the letter public.

They made a summit conference look simple. It was a we're-all-members-of-the-same-club kind of note.

The Soviets not only made themselves look like jolly peace-lovers but got the idea across to the rest of the world, no matter what the effect here.

To make matters worse: before Eisenhower answered this first letter, Bulganin wrote him another. It's been that way ever since: letter after letter.

When Khrushchev managed to push Bulganin aside and took his place as premier, he borrowed his pen too and kept on writing to Eisenhower.

But the Soviet method towards this country can be stated simply: keep 'em off balance. Khrushchev mixes his pitches.

At one time he writes or talks together; at another time, in a speech somewhere or at a cocktail party, he calls us warmongers.

He talks one time of peaceful coexistence and another of communism's taking over the world. All the letters and statements manage to get broadcast or reported.

Pretty soon, having hopped over the formal diplomatic barriers, the Soviets had forced Eisenhower to write letters to them. If he didn't, it would be just so much more propaganda gravy for the Soviets.

There can't be much doubt now that everyone, inside or outside the United States, is adjusted to the idea the Soviets are equal to this country, and in some ways superior. In missiles, for example.

For a man like Secretary of State Dulles, who has spent most of his life in formal diplomacy, this Soviet method of slap-'em-on-the-back and kick-'em-in-the-pants must get disturbing.

As long ago as last Jan. 10—at his news conference—Dulles complained about the Bulganin letter-writing to Eisenhower.

He said the Soviets are using "the channels of communications between the heads of government as a means of what might be called propaganda techniques rather than to use them seriously, as it seems to us benefits messages between heads of governments, given the serious state of international affairs."

Summer Delinquency May Rise

The majority of the nation's high school and college boys between 15 and 20 years of age and almost half of the girls of the same age group normally take summer-time jobs. This year their prospects are not as good as usual.

These teenagers, numbering about 13.5 billion, had earnings last summer estimated by a New York research firm at $1.5 billion. The buying power of this income in the clothing, the things to eat, the phonograph records and the other things youth wants is important to the nation's economy.

The education the youngsters of more serious purpose can buy with it is important in the future of the nation as well as the future of the young men and women

New Sub Changes Tactics

If "unofficial sources" can be credited, the new U. S. submarine Skipjack will be able to do 45 knots under her nuclear power below the surface! That's about 50 land mph, and that's moving for any good-sized vessel on the surface. The fastest destroyers cannot do that well.

A submarine capable of such speed is capable of maneuverability in lightning-like turns and twists. Hence the Navy has fitted the Skipjack with gear to permit her to be "flown" through the water in the manner of an aircraft in the air. She will have a pilot and co-pilot—strapped into their seats for the fast maneuvers. Each will have an airplane type stick to control diving planes and rudder together for coordinated action.

The Skipjack is no slouch for size, either—3,000 tons, 250 feet long. Will the Skipjack be equipped for the Navy's Polaris who must pay their own way in whole or in part. No less important, jobs serve to occupy the minds and time of young people who otherwise might be left in the idleness that can beget trouble.

The summer job situation, with many employers shaving expenses by hiring fewer summer replacements, has brought from some federal officials concerned with such things a warning against a summer-time rise in juvenile delinquency. They are concerned with a vacuum that can be filled, it action comes in time, by a sound recreation program wherever youth faces summertime idleness.

Supplying activities for idle minds and hands is a task for everyone—not only public officials. Youth wants things to do.

ballistic missile along with other nuclear submarines? It's accepted nowadays that the submarine is coming into its own as a capital ship of the fleet.

An old-fashioned diesel - electric or obsolescent atom submarine can provide a missile - launching platform almost impossible for enemy reconnaissance to get a fix on. How much harder will it be, then, for a bunch of baddies to put salt on the tail of this new bird of the sea?

National Flower: Dandelion

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If America is to wear a national flower in its buttonhole, why not make it the dandelion?

Congress is periodically petitioned to name an official U.S. flower, but so far has ducked a vote. This issue could cause a lot of statesmanlike heads to roll—like petals at the first frost.

Garden lovers are a passionate folk. Knock their favorite flower, and it's worse than kicking their dog around. The angry man rises in them. The wise politician realizes that picking a national flower could easily lead to a floral war between the states.

Right now there are two lobbies besieging Congress—some ladies from Atlanta, ardent advocates of the rose; a Midwest contingent who thinks the corn tassel should be the tossing symbol of our land.

The rose lovers, of course, are strictly traditionalists and are the kind of people who pick the New York Yankees every year to win the American League pennant.

Against them is the opinion of many that the rose is a garden anachronism and not democratic enough to represent America.

The corn tassel crowd claims that the corn tassel is as American as Pocahontas and, furthermore, is the bright harbinger of two of mankind's greatest pleasures—bacon and bourbon. One criticism against it: It is almost as symbolic of a single region, the Middle West, as cotton is of the South.

The big problem Congress faces in selecting a national flower is how to avoid showing regional favoritism.

If it names the official flower of one state, it by implication offends the other states.

The only remaining possible

choice is the dandelion, the golden democrat of lawn and pasture. It is the true all-American flower, a rugged individualist that stands above class or creed. Or local partisanship.

It exports its seeds in clouds of white paratroopers that enrich with new beauty the backyards of the poor and the estates of the mighty. It is the stubborn friend of all. You can't even force this pal to leave you.

In good times you can admire its loveliness. In bad times, or good times, you can make wine from its blossoms, salad from its leaves, all kinds of medicines and a substitute coffee from its roots. It is beloved of children. You can hold its yellow glory under your best girl's chin and tell if she likes butter.

The easy way out for Congress is to vote the dandelion as the U.S. national flower—by acclamation.

Adam Powell Has System

By George Sokolsky

The Negro leaders of the Republican Party, at least one of whom may be responsible for Adam Clayton Powell's income tax troubles, spent most of the day at the New York County Committee headquarters in National Republican Club arguing with Thomas J. Curran, chairman, and Mrs. Preston Davis, vice chairman, about nominating a Democrat, who has a long record of left-wing associations, as the Republican candidate for Congress in Harlem.

No one made a speech favorable to Powell. No one spoke even kindly of him. In fact, the Negro leaders denounced him, spoke unfavorably of his character, etc. etc. Then they demanded he be nominated.

It was not that they had been corrupted. It was that they were afraid not to nominate him. They were afraid that they literally would not be able to walk the streets of Harlem if they failed to nominate him. The Democrats, to whom he belongs, threw him over; the Republicans, to whom he never belonged, dared not avoid him.

One Negro Republican leader blamed President Eisenhower for all the trouble. He said that when the Negroes of Harlem thought that Powell had ruined himself, a deal was made for Powell to come out for Eisenhower in the 1956 election and Powell was given an opportunity to exhibit his strength in his income tax case.

Fourteen months went by before the United States Attorney in New York did anything in the matter and then only after the Grand Jury threatened to go off on its own. This is something the Senate Judiciary Committee might look into one day.

In the broadest American sense, the Powell case is symptomatic of a frightening situation. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., is first of all a Negro. He has made being a Negro a career and a profession. He is a clergyman and a member of Congress, but most of all, he is a demagogue among his own people.

He keeps them stirred up and as long as they are stirred up, he will possess enormous power in New York City. He is a man of superb intelligence who, however, has his own game to play.

The Negro and Puerto Rican population in New York County can control the election. Such a situation is also developing in Brooklyn and the Bronx. The Puerto Ricans dislike being classed as Negroes which many of them are not, but they are discriminated against socially and economically in this community and they are being forced by circumstances to associate themselves with such a leadership as Powell's. They have produced no equal leadership of their own.

New York City is normally Democratic. Its leadership has moved from Irish to Italian. The Republican Party is moribund and lacks leadership altogether; it exists only on patronage, receiverships and similar perquisites that are exclusively advantageous to lawyers. Most of the kind of people usually Republican in Northern cities, live and vote in the suburbs, some even in other states like Connecticut and New Jersey where the tax situations are preferable.

I have long estimated that the next Mayor of New York might be a Negro. It lies in the votes and in the balance of power. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., has established it as a political fact that he is above party; that if his own party rejects him, he can take over another. He has established it beyond cavil, that he has taken over the Republican Party in New York County. What occurred at the meeting of the Advisory Committee which opposed him unanimously in public, was that those who are most ambitious wanted to endorse him, and were caught in a political device and were forced to vote as they did.

They protested, however. The reason they were ready to support Powell was that they thought that Powell might support one of their own as the candidate for Governor. This argument only proved the development of Powell's power.

The methods employed by Powell are new here. They are organized mass pressures on racial issues. In a word, if Powell is indicted in an income tax case, the entire Negro race is indicted; if Powell is rejected for a nomination, the entire Negro race is rejected.

Powell, with diabolical brilliance, has so associated himself with the Negroes that he has become the symbol of race consciousness. This is something very new and frightfully dangerous in American life.

Ohio Sales Tax Take Runs Below '57 Total

COLUMBUS (AP)—During the week ended May 24, Ohio collected $3,596,246 in the state's 3 per cent sales tax, almost 11 per cent less than the amount collected for the same period last year.

The lag, however, is nothing new—it started last December.

State Treasurer Roger Tracy, in announcing the figures, said total collections this year are $198,829,433, or 4.3 per cent under the 1957 total of $207,849,139 for the same period. Last year's collections were at their peak.

"Has my mother been turned in yet?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A VISITOR made his first trip to the local golf club, and picked up a match with an agreeable old coddler on the first tee. Both players were dreadful, but they managed to hack their way around the course in something like seven hours.

Back in the clubhouse, the visitor was astonished to be received by a round of cheers. "Congratulations!" explained one member. "You're the first man who's ever been able to stick it out for 18 holes with Ol' Whoosis. He's probably the most awful golfer who ever lived."

"Now just a moment," protested the visitor. "He beat me four up."

Much against his will, Voltaire was conned into speaking a small eulogy at the funeral of a famous acquaintance, whom he had loathed for years. Said Voltaire: "Here lies a man who was a sturdy patriot, a gifted writer, a loyal friend, and a faithful husband—provided, of course, that he is really dead."

Heart Ills and Motherhood

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Many women mistakenly believe that because they have, or have had, heart disease they cannot bear children. Unfortunately, this widespread idea has deprived many a woman of the happiness of motherhood.

The truth is that heart disease need not necessarily be a bar to pregnancy. In certain few cases of courses giving birth could be very dangerous to a woman suffering from severe heart trouble. It could be, and has been, fatal in some instances.

I don't want any woman to go through life under the impression that you can never become a mother just because your heart isn't quite as it should be. Your case might be entirely different from the next one. Only your doctor can decide whether pregnancy might harm your heart.

There is no question that pregnancy causes some work for the heart. During the first three months, this extra work load is not too great. As time goes on, each week the heart must work harder and harder since blood must be pumped to supply the unborn child as well as the mother. There is no letup in this extra duty the heart must perform until about the eighth month. Day and night, every minute, every hour, the heart has to pump harder.

For some women with heart conditions this would be too much of a strain. For others it would not.

Generally, a doctor will bask his decision on whether a heart patient can successfully have a baby upon the following conditions:

1. Amount of enlargement of the heart. The more serious conditions usually produce greater enlargement.
2. Amount of exercise the woman can perform without causing heart difficulties. If a normal exercise pattern can be maintained, the better the chance for a successful birth.
3. Presence of symptoms indicating heart damage. From these symptoms a doctor might be able to determine the advisability of having a baby.

Any irregularities of the heartbeat. Combined with the other factors, the heartbeat pattern will help in the diagnosis of the seriousness of the heart condition.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maybe we're being brainwashed. Nikita Khrushchev, full of tricks, is working on us overtime.

Time was, in the not so olden days, when nations did business through formal notes and stiff, polite and frigid diplomatic visits. This had its usefulness: a nation which wanted to feel dignified or superior could keep on doing so. It was pretty much against the rules to get a rock through the front window or a palsy-walsy shout across the back fence.

There's no doubt this country for a long time felt superior to the Soviet Union. Then Nikita Khrushchev bounced in, too round and fat for a stuffed shirt.

Pretty soon, with his speeches and statements broadcast to the world, he began to drum it into the world's consciousness that the Soviet Union was anyone's equal. Just as a nudge, in case there was still doubt, the Soviets shot up their Sputniks.

The past few months are a pretty good example of how the Soviets threw the old-fashioned rule book out the window.

Khrushchev's running-mate, the then Premier Bulganin, last December dashed off a note to President Eisenhower, proposing a summit conference.

Then, without politely waiting for this country to reveal the contents, the Soviets made the letter public.

They made a summit conference look simple. It was a we're-all-members-of-the-same-club kind of note.

The Soviets not only made themselves look like jolly peacelovers but got the idea across to the rest of the world, no matter what the effect here.

To make matters worse: before Eisenhower answered this first letter, Bulganin wrote him another. It's been that way ever since: letter after letter.

When Khrushchev managed to push Bulganin aside and took his place as premier, he borrowed his pen too and kept on writing to Eisenhower.

But the Soviet method towards this country can be stated simply: keep 'em off balance. Khrushchev mixes his pitches.

At one time he writes or talks together; at another time, in a speech somewhere or at a cocktail party, he calls us warmongers.

He talks one time of peaceful coexistence and another of communism's taking over the world. All the letters and statements manage to get broadcast or reported.

Pretty soon, having hopped over the formal diplomatic barriers, the Soviets had forced Eisenhower to write letters to them. If he

County Health Dept. Reports

The 1957-58 Pickaway County School Health Program report was released today by County Health Nurse, Mrs. Helen Pickens.

The program was under the direction of County Superintendent of Schools, George D. McDowell, and Dr. Frank R. Moore, County Health Commissioner.

An eye testing program in Pickaway County's 17 schools has been completed for the second year. The entire enrollment participated, which is approximately 4,446 students. The program was carried out by the County Nurse, Mrs. Helen Pickens, assisted by the parents of the PTO Groups of the county.

The local Society for Crippled Children, the Circleville Elks Lodge, the Lions Club of New Holland and the County Relief purchased glasses for many children whose parents were financially unable to do so.

LISTED below are the schools and the number of children whose eyes were tested, the number of defects that were found and the number that were corrected.

Atlanta—321 tested, 18 defects found, 12 corrected; New Holland—284, 21, 12; Ashville—496, 32, 26; Madison—120, 6, 6.

So. Bloomfield—80, 2, 2; Washington—198, 10, 3; Scioto—422, 16, 11; Wayne—147, 11, 5; Jackson—120, 16, 5; Duvall—121, 4, 4.

Walnut—451, 20, 7; Pickaway—321, 28, 8; Williamsport—343, 29, 13; Salt Creek—327, 12, 3; Darby—324, 16, 7; Darbyville—109, 7, 5; Monroe—262, 14, 3.

Totals are 4446 tested, 262 defects found and 132 corrected.

As soon as it is possible after the schools open in September, the County Nurse makes visit to all of the county schools—this usually begins in the northwest corner of the county at Darby and works down through Darbyville, Jackson, etc., until all seventeen schools are visited.

The superintendent of each school is contacted for the purpose of assisting him with any health problems which may exist regarding contagious diseases such as pediculosis, impetigo and the like. The latter two are practically obsolete due to modern day medical treatment and health education. However, we have had some drifters from other counties who have brought families into Pickaway County with head lice.

One of the School Health Rules is that all new children admitted to the schools have physical inspections usually done by the teacher and followed up by the County Nurse, if requested. If there is any evidence of any contagious or infectious disease, work is begun at once to clear this up by a home visit to the parents and recommendations made for correction.

THE SCHOOL wells are all tested to make sure they are safe for drinking.

Below are the results of the First Grade Physical Inspections for Decayed Teeth, Defective Speech, Large Tonsils, Corrections (Tonsils) and Dull Hearing.

Atlanta—2 decayed teeth, no defective speech, 4 large tonsils, no tonsil corrections and no dull hearing; New Holland—1, 0, 4, 3, 1; Ashville—2, 4, 4, 0; Madison—2, 0, 3, 0, 0.

So. Bloomfield—1, 0, 2, 0, 0; Washington—3, 0, 5, 1, 0; Scioto—9, 0, 11, 2, 0; Wayne—1, 0, 2, 0, 0; Jackson—3, 1, 3, 0, 0; Duvall—2, 1, 6, 1, 0.

Walnut—4, 5, 7, 1, 0; Pickaway—3, 0, 3, 0, 0; Williamsport—2, 0, 7, 2, 1; Salt Creek—3, 1, 3, 2, 0; Darby—4, 3, 6, 1, 0; Muhlenberg—3, 1, 2, 0, 0; Monroe—3, 1, 9, 0, 2.

One new crippled child was referred to Children's Hospital Orthopedic Clinic. Several known mentally retarded children were seen. Letters were sent to parents of all children found to have defects advising them to take them to their private physician.

The corrections noted above are those that have been done up-to-date while many others are expected to follow through with recommendations during the summer months.

In the immunization program, Tridipigen - Alum Precipitated Vaccine was used. Triple Shots given in two shots (equivalent to three shots), which immunize against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

In the 1st round, 582 shots were given. In the 2nd round, 167 shots were given, for a total of 749 shots. Those who were absent for 1st and 2nd round shots and received shots later numbered 10, for a grand total of 759 immunizations.

In the poliomyelitis vaccination program, 1st round shots numbered 239 and 2nd round shots totaled 129, for a total of 368. There were 45 pupils who were absent but received their shots later to make a total of 413 to receive the polio vaccine. Some polio shots are not due until later on in year.

County Health Dept. Reports

The 1957-58 Pickaway County School Health Program report was released today by County Health Nurse, Mrs. Helen Pickens.

The program was under the direction of County Superintendent of Schools, George D. McDowell, and Dr. Frank R. Moore, County Health Commissioner.

An eye testing program in Pickaway County's 17 schools has been completed for the second year. The entire enrollment participated, which is approximately 4,446 students. The program was carried out by the County Nurse, Mrs. Helen Pickens, assisted by the parents of the PTO Groups of the county.

The local Society for Crippled Children, the Circleville Elks Lodge, the Lions Club of New Holland and the County Relief purchased glasses for many children whose parents were financially unable to do so.

LISTED below are the schools and the number of children whose eyes were tested, the number of defects that were found and the number that were corrected.

Atlanta—321 tested, 18 defects found, 12 corrected; New Holland—284, 21, 12; Ashville—496, 32, 26; Madison—120, 6, 6.

So. Bloomfield—80, 2, 2; Washington—198, 10, 3; Scioto—422, 16, 11; Wayne—147, 11, 5; Jackson—120, 16, 5; Duval—121, 4, 4.

Walnut—451, 20, 7; Pickaway—321, 28, 8; Williamsport—343, 29, 13; Saltcreek—327, 12, 3; Darby—324, 16, 7; Darbyville—109, 7, 5; Monroe—262, 14, 3.

Totals are 4446 tested, 262 defects found and 132 corrected.

As soon as it is possible after the schools open in September, the County Nurse makes visit to all of the county schools—this usually begins in the northwest corner of the county at Darby and works down through Darbyville, Jackson, etc. until all seventeen schools are visited.

The superintendent of each school is contacted for the purpose of assisting him with any health problems which may exist regarding contagious diseases such as pediculosis, impetigo and the like. The latter two are practically obsolete due to modern day medical treatment and health education. However, we have had some drifters from other counties who have brought families into Pickaway County with head lice.

One of the School Health Rules is that all new children admitted to the schools have physical inspections usually done by the teacher and followed up by the County Nurse, if requested. If there is any evidence of any contagious or infectious disease, work is begun at once to clear this up by a home visit to the parents and recommendations made for correction.

THE SCHOOL wells are all tested to make sure they are safe for drinking.

Below are the results of the First Grade Physical Inspections for Defective Teeth, Defective Speech, Large Tonsils, Corrections (Tonsils) and Dull Hearing.

Atlanta—2 decayed teeth, no defective speech, 4 large tonsils, no tonsil corrections and no dull hearing; New Holland—1, 0, 4, 3, 1; Ashville—2, 4, 4, 0; Madison—2, 0, 3, 0, 0.

So. Bloomfield—1, 0, 2, 0, 0; Washington—3, 0, 5, 1, 0; Scioto—9, 0, 11, 2, 0; Wayne—1, 0, 2, 0, 0; Jackson—3, 1, 3, 0, 0; Duval—2, 1, 6, 1, 0.

Walnut—4, 5, 7, 1, 0; Pickaway—3, 0, 3, 3, 0; Williamsport—2, 0, 7, 2, 1; Saltcreek—3, 1, 3, 2, 0; Derby—4, 3, 6, 1, 0; Muhlenberg—3, 1, 2, 0, 0; Monroe—3, 1, 9, 0, 2.

One new crippled child was referred to Children's Hospital Orthopedic Clinic. Several known mentally retarded children were seen. Letters were sent to parents of all children found to have defects advising them to take them to their private physician.

The corrections noted above are those that have been done up-to-date while many others are expected to follow through with recommendations during the summer months.

In the immunization program, Tridipigen - Alum Precipitated Vaccine was used. Triple Shots given in two shots (equivalent to three shots), which immunizes against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

In the 1st round, 582 shots were given. In the 2nd round, 167 shots were given, for a total of 749 shots. Those who were absent for 1st and 2nd round shots and received shots later numbered 10, for a grand total of 759 immunizations.

In the poliomyelitis vaccination program, 1st round shots numbered 239 and 2nd round shots totaled 129, for a total of 368. There were 45 pupils who were absent but received their shots later to make a total of 413 to receive the polio vaccine. Some polio shots are not due until later on in year.

In the Land of Promise

THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL CROSS THE JORDAN INTO CANAAN

Scripture—Joshua 4: 11:16-23; 23: 23.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"OUR LESSON begins with the crossing of the Jordan river, and concludes with the death and burial of Joshua, covering a period of 25 years of war-filled history."—Dr. Wilbur M. Smith.

As the Lord rolled back the waters of the Red sea to allow the Israelites to escape the Egyptians, so He rolled back the waters of the Jordan river for them to cross into the promised land of Canaan. The priests had carried the Ark of the Covenant over safely, and then Joshua said: "Take you 12 men out of the people, out of every tribe a man, and command ye them, saying, Take you hence out of the midst of Jordan, out of the place where the priests' feet stood firm, 12 stones, and ye shall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging place, where ye shall lodge this night."—Joshua 4:2-3.

MEMORY VERSE

"Put away the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the Lord God."—Joshua 24:23.

It was done, and Joshua set up these stones as a memorial of the safe crossing of the river, so that when their descendants asked why the stones were set there, they would be told that it was done because of the crossing of their ancestors over the Jordan on dry land.

It is thought that probably each stone was as large as a chosen man could carry on his shoulder, and the 12 stones were set up in Gilead, located between the Jordan river and Jericho. Twelve stones were also set up in the midst of the Jordan river, where the feet of the priests had trod.

In chapter 11 we are given a summary of the wars of the children of Israel with the tribes that inhabited the land that the Lord had promised should be theirs. Marching armed into the land, the Israelites under Joshua conquered, "took all that land, the hills, and all the south country, and all the land of Goshen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountain of Israel, and the valley of the same." Joshua made war a long time on the kings of these lands, conquering with the Lord's help.

So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the Lord said unto Moses; and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel according to their divisions by their tribes. And the land rested from war."—Joshua 11:23.

Joshua, grown old and feeble, called all the elders of the people together and warned them that unless they were true to God, they would not prosper. Then he called all his people together to hear his warning, and the people said, "We will serve the Lord."

"So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem. And Joshua wrote these words into the book of the law."

Wars and rumors of wars still plague the world. Will the time ever come when all nations shall rest from war, as did the Israelites after their conquests?

The children of Israel often violated their covenant in later times. Do we of this generation obey the Lord who has given us so many blessings? Those who do have peace in their souls. Let us, too, put away strange gods of selfishness, intolerance and crime. If we do we may live lovely lives, pleasing to our Father who is in Heaven, and loved by many on earth, whether we be child, man or woman.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: John and I are in our thirties and have been married 11 years, during the first five of which he played professional ball. I enjoyed very much the travel and meeting new and wonderful people—with many of whom I still correspond. We lost a child at birth and haven't been blessed with any more.

When John quit the game five years ago, we settled here. Our folks are 1500 miles away, but we didn't give it a thought at the time. It was then that I first began to notice that John is a very unsocial person—though I had often wondered at his lack of friends, in his background and in his work. He had acquaintances, but no friends.

After five years here, we haven't one couple with whom John will go out, or entertain. I have a job and get all my pleasure from the girls I work with. Without them I would be lost. John is wrapped up in his work and a sideline activity that takes him away from me many evenings. He never asks me out, not even for a Sunday drive.

We are completely isolated and he is happy in the situation—doesn't even care to go back to visit his family. He likes cards but finds fault with everyone who comes over; or just won't talk. We attend church regularly but he won't participate in church parties or church affairs.

I sought spiritual advice; and although John admits his anti-social bias, he doesn't do anything to try to make life a little happier for me.

We were told to adopt a child and did put in an application, against my better judgment, as I don't want to use a child to hold us together. However, we won't hear for at least a year.

Just last weekend the girl next door asked if we would go to a dinner and a show, and he refused. I felt so like a small child who had been refused. Please help me. Tell me if I am wrong and asking too much. If he is happy, should I settle for that?

F.F.
DEAR F.F.: It appears that you are at least as much of a problem to yourself and to John as he is to you—from your view. What to do with yourself is a problem to you—a problem from which you gladly escaped, temporarily, when you were travelling with John on the sports circuit.

I gather that John has a fair job at present, plus a sideline activity that also produces income. There-

Ohio River Ferry Toll Rate Hike Given Nod

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Public Service Commission has authorized Roswell Ruble, operating as the Moundsville Ferry Co., to increase toll charges on Ohio River ferries plying between Moundsville and Dilles, Ohio, and between Kent, W. Va. and Clarington, Ohio.

The new rates, effective immediately, will be 50 cents for passenger cars and light trucks. The old charge was 40 cents. There is no change in toll for heavy trucks and foot passengers.

Bexley Methodist Clergic Dies in Columbus Clinic

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. W. Emory Hartman, 57, pastor of the suburban Bexley Methodist Church and a member of the Board of Trustees of Ohio Wesleyan University, died in a local hospital.

Dr. Hartman, who also was chairman of the Interboard Council of the Ohio Methodist Conference, came to the Bexley Church in 1950 from a pastorate in Harrisburg, Pa.

fore he probably is able to support you; so why are you a wage earner too? Just to keep busy, I surmise—or, more precisely, to escape the dreariness of self.

It is my impression that you need psychiatric help to open your eyes to the defeatist pattern of your own personality; and to re-educate your emotions and strengthen your will—so that you may lead an adult type of life. In short, so that you can negotiate a satisfactory relationship with your community, even without John's lending a hand—if that's the way it has to be.

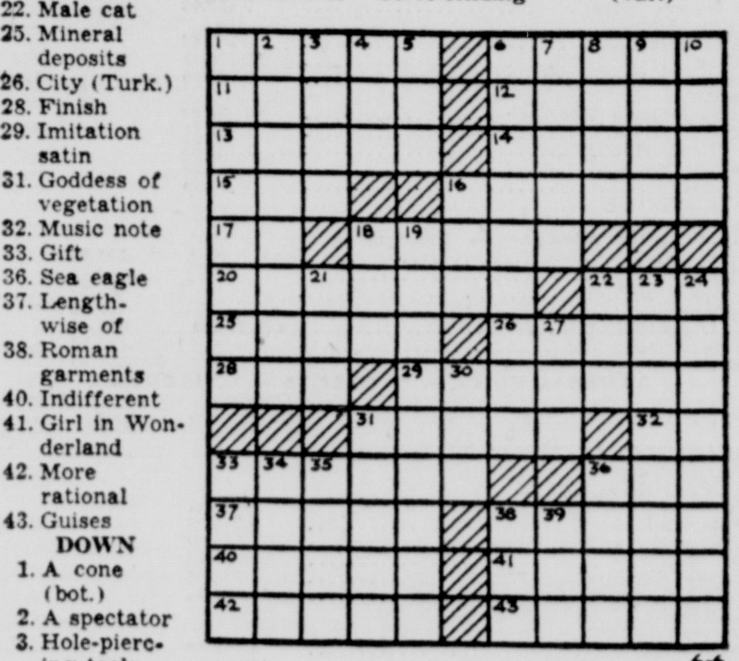

You and John need expert help in developing normal self-confidence, interest in, and appreciation of, the human company to which you belong. And I advise you to lead out in search of professional guidance.

O'Neill Mum On Exact Date Of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The exact date for opening the special session of the Legislature will not be announced until the Ohio Supreme Court indicates its course in the supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) question, Gov. C. William O'Neill said Thursday.

Aides of the governor said they expect such an indication from the high court shortly.

The court has agreed to review lower court decisions upsetting an administrative ruling that workers cannot receive SUB and state jobless compensation at the same time. But it has not indicated how soon hearings can be held on the appeals in two test cases.

O'Neill's statement followed a conference with House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) and Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), Senate majority leader. However, the governor again said the ses-

Road Builders, Cement Finishers Sign Pact

COLUMBUS (AP)—A one year-contract agreement providing a 12 1/2-cent hourly pay increase for cement finishers employed on Ohio road building projects has been reached by the Ohio Contractors Assn. and the Cement Finishers Union.

The increase raises minimum wages to $3.22 an hour for workers in the southern half of the state, $3.42 in the northern half except for a four-county area around Cleveland, and $3.62 for workers in the Cleveland area, a spokesman for the contractors said.

The pact will begin no later than June 30.

O'Neill said he and the legislative leaders discussed methods of handling subjects to be included in the special session call. So far there are four—extending the period of jobless benefits, an interstate highway billboard ban, more poor relief appropriations, and revision of sewer and water line extension laws.

In the Land of Promise

THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL CROSS THE JORDAN INTO CANAAN

Scripture—Joshua 4: 11-16; 23; 24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
"OUR LESSON begins with the crossing of the Jordan river, and concludes with the death and burial of Joshua, covering a period of 25 years of war-filled history."—Dr. Wilbur M. Smith.
As the Lord rolled back the waters of the Red sea to allow the Israelites to escape the Egyptians, so He rolled back the waters of the Jordan river for them to cross into the promised land of Canaan. The priests carried the Ark of the Covenant over safely, and then Joshua said: "Take you 12 men out of the people, out of every tribe a man, and command ye them, saying, Take ye hence out of the midst of Jordan, out of the place where the priests' feet stood firm, 12 stones, and ye shall carry them over with you, and leave them in the lodging place, where ye shall lodge this night."—Joshua 4:2-3.

MEMORY VERSE
"Put away the strange gods which are among you, and incline your heart unto the Lord God."—Joshua 24:23.

It was done, and Joshua set up these stones as a memorial of the safe crossing of the river, so that when their descendants asked why the stones were set there, they would be told that it was done because of the crossing of their ancestors over the Jordan on dry land.

It is thought that probably each stone was as large as a chosen man could carry on his shoulder, and the 12 stones were set up in Gilgal, located between the Jordan river and Jericho. Twelve stones were also set up in the midst of the Jordan river, where the feet of the priests had trod.

In chapter 11 we are given a summary of the wars of the children of Israel with the tribes that inhabited the land that the Lord had promised should be theirs. Marching armed into the land, the Israelites under Joshua conquered, "took all that land, the hills, and all the south country, and all the land of Goshen, and the valley, and the plain, and the mountain of Israel, and the valley of the same." Joshua made war a long time on the kings of these lands, conquering with the Lord's help.

"So Joshua took the whole land, according to all that the Lord said unto Moses; and Joshua gave it for an inheritance unto Israel according to their divisions by their tribes. And the land rested from war."—Joshua 11:23.

Joshua, grown old and feeble, called all the elders of the people together and warned them that unless they were true to God, they would not prosper. Then he called all his people together to hear his warning, and the people said, "We will serve the Lord."

"So Joshua made a covenant with the people that day, and set them a statute and an ordinance in Shechem. And Joshua wrote these words into the book of the law. "And it came to pass after these things, that Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being 110 years old," and was buried "in the border of his inheritance."—Joshua 24:26, 29-30.

Wars and rumors of wars still plague the world. Will the time ever come when all nations shall "rest from war" as did the Israelites after their conquests? The children of Israel often violated their covenant in later times. Do we of this generation obey the Lord who has given us so many blessings? Those who do have peace in their souls. Let us, too, put away strange gods of selfishness, intolerance and crime. If we do we may live lovely lives, pleasing to our Father who is in Heaven, and loved by many on earth, whether we be child, man or woman.

Ohio River Ferry Toll Rate Hike Given Nod

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Public Service Commission has authorized Roswell Ruble, operating as the Moundsville Ferry Co., to increase toll charges on Ohio River ferries plying between Moundsville and Dilles, Ohio, and between Kent, W. Va. and Clarington, Ohio.

The new rates, effective immediately, will be 50 cents for passenger cars and light trucks. The old charge was 40 cents. There is no change in toll for heavy trucks and foot passengers.

Bexley Methodist Cleric Dies in Columbus Clinic

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. W. Emory Hartman, 57, pastor of the suburban Bexley Methodist Church and a member of the Board of Trustees of Ohio Wesleyan University, died in a local hospital.

Dr. Hartman, who also was chairman of the Interboard Council of the Ohio Methodist Conference, came to the Bexley Church in 1950 from a pastorate in Harrisburg, Pa.

fore he probably is able to support you; so why are you a wage earner too? Just to keep busy, I surmise—or, more precisely, to escape the dreariness of self.

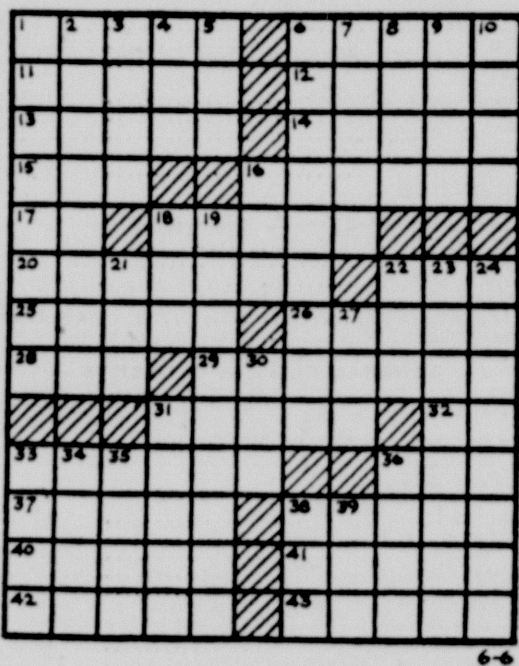

It is my impression that you need psychiatric help to open your eyes to the defeatist pattern of your own personality; and to re-educate your emotions and strengthen your will—so that you may lead an adult type of life. In short, so that you can negotiate a satisfactory relationship with your community, even without John's lending a hand—if that's the way it has to be.

You and John need expert help in developing normal self-confident interest in, and appreciation of, the human company to which you belong. And I advise you to lead out in search of professional guidance.

O'Neill Mum On Exact Date Of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The exact date for opening the special session of the Legislature will not be announced until the Ohio Supreme Court indicates its course in the supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) question, Gov. C. William O'Neill said Thursday.

Aides of the governor said they expect such an indication from the high court shortly.

The court has agreed to review lower court decisions upsetting an administrative ruling that workers cannot receive SUB and state jobless compensation at the same time. But it has not indicated how soon hearings can be held on the appeals in two test cases.

O'Neill's statement followed a conference with House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) and Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), Senate majority leader. However, the governor again said the ses-

Road Builders, Cement Finishers Sign Pact

COLUMBUS (AP)—A one year-contract agreement providing a 12½-cent hourly pay increase for cement finishers employed on Ohio road building projects has been reached by the Ohio Contractors Assn. and the Cement Finishers Union.

The increase raises minimum wages to $3.22 an hour for workers in the southern half of the state, $3.42 in the northern half except for a four-county area around Cleveland, and $3.62 for workers in the Cleveland area, a spokesman for the contractors said.

The pact would begin no later than June 30.

O'Neill said he and the legislative leaders discussed methods of handling subjects to be included in the special session call. So far there are four—extending the period of jobless benefits, an interstate highway bill, more poor relief appropriations, and revision of sewer and water line extension laws.

After Landing 1,600 of 'em, Crappie Anglers Tell Secret

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Going fishing? Think you need some points, say, on crappie angling?

Generally, things are going to be pretty good in the coming weekend for lake and stream fishing. That's the view of the fish management section of Ohio Division of Wildlife in its weekly report.

But as for crappie angling, why not listen to Bill Myer and Gordon Yoder, the two Loudonville fishermen who have caught 1,600 crappies in Pleasant Hill Lake since early April.

These two were asked a week ago what their secret was in hauling in the big catches.

Their reply: You have to know the lake you're fishing. They claim they have fished Pleasant Hill almost every day since April and they know where crappies swarm around submerged brushy areas.

"Sometimes we fish two feet deep, other times we have to fish 18 feet deep to catch crappies," Myer said. "But we always fish the choice brushy spots we have pinpointed in the lake."

The management section reported that this spring 24 million walleye fry have been stocked in 19 Ohio inland lakes and 65,000 muskies fry have been released in 10 lakes.

In central and southern Ohio 6 million walleyes were stocked in Rocky Fork, Hoover and Buckeye lakes; in northwestern Ohio 830,000 were stocked in West Branch St. Joe River, Maumee River, Sportsman's Lake, Clyde Reservoir and Nettle Lake.

In northeastern Ohio 12½ million walleyes were put in Norwalk No. 3, Pleasant Hill, Mosquito Lake, Grand River, Cuyahoga River, New Port Lake, New Pond, Resthaven and Beaver Creek.

Other Ohio lakes that received walleyes were Atwood, Burr Oak and Indian Lake where almost five million walleyes were stocked.

Ten thousand muskies were released in Hoeking, Rocky Fork and Indian lakes and Hoover and Deer Creek reservoirs; 8,000 muskies stocked in Seneca Lake; 4,000 put in Monroe Lake; 2,000 released in Scioto Brush Creek and 1,000 in Sunfish Creek.

Ironically, the Wildlife Division reports walleyes and muskies are

Reds Pepper Big Screen in Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs are hitting again—hitting the left field screen in the Coliseum at Los Angeles.

Since the screen is only 250 feet away from home plate, that's not exactly what you'd call a tremendous feat. But the fact is the Redlegs did bounce nine hits off the screen in defeating the Dodgers 8-4 Thursday, and added four more to boot, to take the series 2-1.

Bob Purkey went all the way for the Reds to collect his fourth straight victory and seventh win as against only one loss.

Redleg hitters aimed at that left field screen, and two pokes, one by Don Hoak in the seventh and the other by Purkey himself in the second, sailed over. It was Purkey's second homer of his major league career.

Purkey got off to a shaky start. Singles by John Roseboro and Carl Furillo scored two runs and put the Dodgers ahead 2-1.

In the second, Purkey's homer tied the score. But in the Dodgers' half, Charlie Neal made it 3-2 when he singled, took second on an infield out, then scored on a single by Jim Gilliam.

After that Purkey limited the cellar-dwellers to only three hits in the last six innings. Not a Dodger got past second base until Gil Hodges hit his eighth homer of the year with the bases bare in the ninth.

Pittsburg Track Pilot Is Forced To Retire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Carl Olson, track coach at the University of Pittsburg since 1932, is retiring.

Olson will complete his coaching career and step down as head of the physical education department next Feb. 1. A university policy requires retirement at the age of 65. Olson celebrated his 65th birthday in April.

2 Great Milers Booked for Duel

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Two of the greatest mile runners in the world, Herb Elliott of Australia and Ron Delany of Ireland, match strides for the first time tonight in the feature of the Compton Invitational Track Meet.

Four other runners are entered and meet officials promised that none may be regarded as a "rabbit," or pace-setter in a race that could bring a new world record.

The World Track Federation officially frowns on pace-setting and last winter shelved a claim for such a mark by England's Derek Ibbotson with a time of 3:57.2. The recognized world mark is 3:58, set by John Landy of Australia.

Detroit Adding Negro to Roster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ossie Virgil, a 25-year-old native of the Dominican Republic, was expected to join the Detroit Tigers tonight, marking the first appearance of a Negro player on the club's roster.

With the promotion of Virgil from its Charleston, W. Va., club Thursday, Detroit became the 15th major league team to carry a Negro player since Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947. Boston now is the only major league team without a Negro.

Tiger officials said Virgil's color had nothing to do with his promotion to the parent club.

Indiana Driver Reins 2 Winners at Lebanon

LEBANON (AP)—Shorty Shuter, of Shelbyville, Ind., coaxed home two winners through the mud at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night—Silver Pat in the third and Felka Chief in the featured sixth pace.

Felka Chief paid $40, $46 and $4. The time was 2:17.

In the other featured race, the fifth, Dave Howard of Jefferson-town, Ky., brought trotter Brown Nique home at 2:18.

Indians Set For 4 Tilts With Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will make their first appearance of the season in Yankee Stadium tonight as they open a four-game series with league-leading New York.

The Tribe was rained out three days in a row on its last trip here.

Manager Bobby Bragan named left-hander Dick Tomaneck as his starter for the opener. He will be opposed by Bob Turley, the league's leading pitcher, who will bid for his ninth victory against one loss. Tomaneck's 1-1 record includes a loss to the Yankees.

Bragan plans to send outpaw Don Mose and right-handers Ray Narleski and Cal McLish against the Yankees in the other three games—one Saturday and two Sunday.

The Indians came here from Boston, where they dropped the rubber game of a three-game series with the Red Sox Thursday, 5-3. The loss, charged to Hoyt Wilhelm in a relief role, marked the end of the knuckle ball's mastery over the Red Sox.

The winning run scored after Rocky Colavito reached into the right field stands to grab a foul fly hit by Jackie Jensen with runners on second and third and only one out. Gene Stephens, a pinch runner, slid home safely after the catch, barely beating Colavito's long throw. Sammy White then hit a single to drive in the second run of the eighth inning rally.

Musial-Mays Bat Battle Going at .420-Plus Clip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a bit early to start talking about batting champs, but junk the calendar and take a look at that battle between Stan Musial and Willie Mays in the National League. It's a .420-plus clip.

Stan The Man, at 37 the "Old Guard" who has won four of his seven hitting titles in the last 8 seasons, is a slumping .426. And Willie, 10 years Musial's junior, has picked up 17 points in three days for a .424 average.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, the next in line, is almost 70 points behind, at .359.

Mays was 4-for-5 Thursday as the San Francisco Giants salvaged the finale of a three-game set with Milwaukee with a 5-4 victory in 12 innings. It brought them within .010 percentage points of the first-place Braves.

Musial was 0-for-4 against Pittsburgh, but the St. Louis Cardinals swept the three-game set with a 4-3 decision. They leap-frogged the Pirates for third place.

In the other NL games, Cincinnati smacked Los Angeles 8-4 and Philadelphia finally stopped the Chicago Cubs 7-6.

The Giants won on Jim Finigan's double and a single by rookie Orlando Cepeda (who was 4-for-6) off losing reliever Gene Conley, now 0-4. Mays had opened the 12th with his fourth single, but was nailed at the plate by Hank Aaron's peg as he tried to score on Finigan's hit to center.

The Cards scored two unearned runs in the third and bagged it with two in the fourth as Gene Green hit an RBI double and scored on Curt Flood's single. Bob Friend lost his fourth. Wilmer Mizell won his third.

Once-beaten Bob Purkey won his seventh and hit his second major league homer for the Reds, who had 13 hits. Don Hoak homered and Frank Robinson had four hits. Carl Erskine lost his third.

Harry Anderson's three-run double and Stan Lopata's follow-up sixth homer gave the Phils five in a clinching seventh against losing reliever Don Elston (6-3). Ray Semproch (5-4) won it in relief.

Ralph Terry was a long time shaking his slump, but when he finally put it away he won big, shutout.

The Kansas City right-hander who had lost five straight won his third 2-0 Thursday night at Washington as Woody Held's two-run homer scrapped a duel with Camilo Pascual. It was the first victory since April 26 for Terry.

The league-leading New York Yankees split a double-header with Chicago. The White Sox won the second game 3-2 after losing 12-5.

Boston defeated Cleveland 5-3, and Detroit defeated Baltimore 6-3.

Terry, 22, poured it on, walking but three and fanning seven. He gave up a lead-off triple to Pascual in the 10th, then walked a pair intentionally to load the bases and got slugger Roy Sievers to hit into a line-drive double play.

That put Terry over the hump. He didn't allow another hit. The White Sox won as Sherm Lollar's first-inning homer off loser Bobby Shantz (4-2) and ninth-inning single off Sal Maglie drove in all their runs. Ray Moore (2-1)

McMullin Jittery With Dallas Lead

DALLAS (AP)—In 24 golf tournaments this year only one player of 44 who led or tied for the lead in the first round came through with the championship.

Thus jittery John McMullin, the hungry-looking fellow from Fair Oaks, Calif., who has won much less than expenses on the tour, faces some great odds as he sets out today ahead of the pack in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

McMullin, 23, who lives at Alameda, Calif., and whose wife is expecting at Palo Alto, laid down a 6-under-par 64 Thursday to take the first-round lead. It gave him makers—Tony Lema, Napa, Cal.; Doug Sanders, Miami, Fla.; and Gary Player of Johannesburg.

The association will furnish five trophies and $4,000 added money. The Amateur Trapshooting Assn. and the host club will furnish an additional 21 trophies. The final event on June 15 will be the Ohio handicap championship, with $500 added money.

had a four-hit shut out for eight innings. Don Larsen (4-0) won his eighth in a row since last Aug. 5 and drove in four runs, but could not hold a 10-3 lead in the opener.

Ryne Duren, the Yankees' new-found Rookie of the Year candidate, made his ninth save with 2-2-3 innings of two-hit shutout relief. Early Wynn was the loser.

Mickey Mantle hit his eighth homer, fourth in four days.

Ray Boone's eighth major league grand-slam homer bagged it in the seventh for the Tigers as Hank Aguirre won his second with a two-hit shutout in 8 1-3 relief innings. Billy O'Dell lost his seventh.

Gene Stephens slid home with the winning run on Jackie Jensen's fly ball in a two-run Red Sox eighth that broke a 3-3 tie at Boston. Jensen drove in three runs, hitting his 11th homer with a man on, and Dick Gernert cracked his 10th homer for the Sox. Dick Brown hit a three-run homer for the Indians. Mike Fornieles won his third in relief. Hoyt Wilhelm lost his second.

Akins Favored To Chalk Up Welter Title

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A new world welterweight boxing champion will be crowned tonight when Virgil Akins, a stiff-punching hometown boy, meets clever Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., in the 15-round final match of an elimination tournament.

Carmen Basilio, who vacated the title last September when he entered the middleweight ranks, will watch the fight. He picks Martinez.

Akins, a 30-year-old slugger who has come into his own in recent months after years of erratic performances, is the 2-1 favorite on the home front.

It will be a healthy payday for both fighters. Each gets $15,000 from TV and an additional $15,000 guarantee of 30 per cent of receipts.

Akins and Martinez, 29, are the survivors of a six-man elimination tournament set up last year. Akins bypassed the tourney for a time and won the Massachusetts version of the world title by knocking out ex-champ Tony DeMarco. After repeating the job on DeMarco in a rematch, Virgil eliminated Isaac Logart by a sixth-round knockout in New York March 21.

Martinez drew Gil Turner in January and drew a bye into the finals with Akins.

Martinez's 60-5 record for 65 bouts is more impressive than Akins' 47-17-1.

7 Three-Year-Olds Slated for Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless some surprise pops up, the names of seven 3-year-old colts were to be dropped into the entry box today for the 90th running of the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes.

Tim Tam, from the Calumet Farm of Mrs. Gene Markey, rules an odds-on choice to capture the mile and one-half classic Saturday at Belmont Park.

Others due to make the big try were Joseph E. O'Connell's Cavan, Wheatley Stable's Nasco, C. V. Whitney's Flamingo, George E. Lewis' Martins Rullah, Mrs. Anna Cannuli's Chance It Tony, and Mrs. Charles Silvers' Page Seven.

Mickey Wright Sets Pace in Ladies PGA

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mickey Wright, 23, of San Diego, Thursday fired a one-under par 69 over Churchill Valley Country Club's sun-baked hills to take a two-stroke lead in the fourth annual ladies PGA tournament.

Two strokes off the pace going into today's second round were Mar-Lynn Smith of Wichita, Kan., and Kathy Cornelius of Lakeland, Fla.

After Landing 1,600 of 'em, Crappie Anglers Tell Secret

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Going fishing? Think you need some points, say, on crappie angling?

Generally, things are going to be pretty good in the coming week-end for lake and stream fishing. That's the view of the fish management section of Ohio Division of Wildlife in its weekly report.

But as for crappie angling, why not listen to Bill Myer and Gordon Yoder, the two Loudonville fishermen who have caught 1,600 crappies in Pleasant Hill Lake since early April.

These two were asked a week ago what their secret was in hauling in the big catches.

Their reply: You have to know the lake you're fishing. They claim they have fished Pleasant Hill almost every day since April and they know where crappies swarm around submerged brushy areas.

"Sometimes we fish two feet deep, other times we have to fish 18 feet deep to catch crappies," Myer said. "But we always fish the choice brushy spots we have pinpointed in the lake."

The management section reported that this spring 24 million walleye fry have been stocked in 19 Ohio inland lakes and 65,000 muskies fry have been released in 10 lakes.

In central and southern Ohio 6 million walleyes were stocked in Rocky Fork, Hoover and Buckeye lakes; in northwestern Ohio 830,000 were stocked in West Branch St. Joe River, Maumee River, Sportsman's Lake, Clyde Reservoir and Nettle Lake.

In northeastern Ohio 12½ million walleyes were put in Norwalk No. 3, Pleasant Hill, Mosquito Lake, Grand River, Cuyahoga River, New Port Lake, New Pond, Resthaven and Beaver Creek.

Other Ohio lakes that received walleyes were Atwood, Burr Oak and Indian Lake where almost five million walleyes were stocked.

Ten thousand muskies were released in Hocking, Rocky Fork and Indian lakes and Hoover and Deer Creek reservoirs; 8,000 muskies stocked in Seneca Lake; 4,000 put in Monroe Lake; 2,000 released in Scioto Brush Creek and 1,000 in Sandusky Creek.

Ironically, the Wildlife Division reports walleyes and muskies are being released in Ohio lakes to reduce the number of fish swimming in state waters, not increase the number. Their explanation is that bass, crappies, bluegills and other pan fish reproduce themselves so prolifically that most lakes in Ohio have too many fish for the amount of food available to them.

Thus, the walleyes and muskies prove fishing in Ohio by bringing to proper balance fish supply with food supply of the lake.

Here in brief is what the division sees for weekend fishing:

NORTHEASTERN—Clear and fishing conditions exist throughout most of this area; good catches of various kinds of fish reported, weekend outlook good barring rain within next few days.

Normal waters exist throughout most of this district and fishing reported good; such popular lakes as Guilford, Zephernick, Penderon, Berlin, Clearfork and Charles Mill providing good catches.

EAST CENTRAL AND SOUTHEASTERN—Wills Creek in Guernsey County somewhat muddy and high but most other streams and major lakes in this area in good fishing condition.

CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN—With exception of few streams in Marion and Morrow counties, virtually all other waters clear and normal with some fish of all species being taken; weekend fishing should be good.

SOUTH WESTERN—Reports from this part of Ohio indicate all waters clear and normal although a few streams are lower than usual for this time of year.

Fishing has been good in both lakes and streams and some good catches reported in Grant, Kiser, Stonelick, Cowan, Sinclair, Indian and Lorain.

SANDUSKY BAY AND LAKE ERIE—Outlook for both good for coming weekend. Catfish being taken at the Bay Bridge and the

Reds Pepper Big Screen in Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs are hitting again—hitting the left field screen in the Coliseum at Los Angeles.

Since the screen is only 250 feet away from home plate, that's not exactly what you'd call a tremendous feat. But the fact is the Redlegs did bounce nine hits off the screen in defeating the Dodgers 8-4 Thursday, and added four more to boot, to take the series 2-1.

Bob Purkey went all the way for the Reds to collect his fourth straight victory and seventh win as against only one loss.

Redleg hitters aimed at that left field screen, and two pokes, one by Don Hoak in the seventh and the other by Purkey himself in the second, sailed over. It was Purkey's second homer of his major league career.

Purkey got off to a shaky start. Singles by John Roseboro and Carl Furillo scored two runs and put the Dodgers ahead 2-1.

In the second, Purkey's homer tied the score. But in the Dodgers' half, Charlie Neal made it 3-2 when he singled, took second on an infield out, then scored on a single by Jim Gilliam.

After that Purkey limited the cellar-dwellers to only three hits in the last six innings. Not a Dodger got past second base until Gil Hodges hit his eighth homer of the year with the bases bare in the ninth.

Pittsburg Track Pilot Is Forced To Retire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Carl Olson, track coach at the University of Pittsburgh since 1932, is retiring.

Olson will complete his coaching career and step down as head of the physical education department next Feb. 1. A university policy requires retirement at the age of 65. Olson celebrated his 65th birthday in April.

troline fishing has been excellent in the Marblehead and Port Clinton area; both smallmouth and white bass are showing up in good

2 Great Milers Booked for Duel

COMPTON, Calif. (AP)—Two of the greatest mile runners in the world, Herb Elliott of Australia and Ron Delany of Ireland, match strides for the first time tonight in the feature of the Compton Invitational Track Meet.

Four other runners are entered and meet officials promised that none may be regarded as a "rabbit," or pace-setter in a race that could bring a new world record.

The World Track Federation officially frowns on pace-setting and last winter shelved a claim for such a mark by England's Derek Ibbotson with a time of 3:57.2. The recognized world mark is 3:58, set by John Landy of Australia.

Detroit Adding Negro to Roster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ossie Virgil, a 25-year-old native of the Dominican Republic, was expected to join the Detroit Tigers tonight, marking the first appearance of a Negro player on the club's roster.

With the promotion of Virgil from its Charleston, W. Va., club Thursday, Detroit became the 15th major league team to carry a Negro player since Jackie Robinson joined the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947. Boston now is the only major league team without a Negro.

Tiger officials said Virgil's color had nothing to do with his promotion to the parent club.

Indiana Driver Reins 2 Winners at Lebanon

LEBANON (AP)—Shorty Shuter, of Shelbyville, Ind., coaxed home two winners through the mud at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night—Silver Pat in the third and Felka Chief in the featured sixth race.

Felka Chief paid $40, $4.60 and $4. The time was 2:17.

In the other featured race, the fifth, Dave Howard of Jeffersonville, Ky., brought trotter Brown Nique home at 2:18.

Indians Set For 4 Tilts With Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians will make their first appearance of the season in Yankee Stadium tonight as they open a four-game series with league-leading New York.

The Tribe was rained out three days in a row on its last trip here.

Manager Bobby Bragan named left-hander Dick Tomanek as his starter for the opener. He will be opposed by Bob Turley, the league's leading pitcher, who will bid for his ninth victory against one loss. Tomanek's 1-1 record includes a loss to the Yankees.

Bragan plans to send outpaw Don Mose and right-handers Ray Narleski and Cal McLish against the Yankees in the other three games—one Saturday and two Sunday.

The Indians came here from Boston, where they dropped the rubber game of a three-game series with the Red Sox Thursday, 5-3. The loss, charged to Hoyt Wilhelm in a relief role, marked the end of the knuckleballer's mastery over the Red Sox.

The winning run scored after Rocky Colavito reached into the right field stands to grab a foul fly hit by Jackie Jensen with runners on second and third and only one out. Gene Stephens, a pinch runner, slid home safely after the catch, barely beating Colavito's long throw. Sammy White then hit a single to drive in the second run of the eighth inning rally.

Musial-Mays Bat Battle Going at .420-Plus Clip

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a bit early to start talking about batting champs, but junk the calendar and take a look at that battle between Stan Musial and Willie Mays in the National League. It's a .420-plus clip.

Stan The Man, at 37 the "Old Guard" who has won four of his seven hitting titles in the last 8 seasons, is a slumpin' .426. And Willie, 10 years Musial's junior, has picked up 17 points in three days for a .424 average.

Richie Ashburn of Philadelphia, the next in line, is almost 70 points behind, at .359.

Mays was 4-for-5 Thursday as the San Francisco Giants salvaged the finale of a three-game set with Milwaukee with a 5-4 victory in 12 innings. It brought them within .010 percentage points of the first-place Braves.

Musial was 0-for-4 against Pittsburgh, but the St. Louis Cardinals swept the three-game set with a 4-3 decision. They leapfrogged the Pirates for third place.

In the other NL games, Cincinnati smacked Los Angeles 8-4 and Philadelphia finally stopped the Chicago Cubs 7-6.

The Giants won on Jim Finigan's double and a single by rookie Orlando Cepeda (who was 4-for-6) off losing reliever Gene Conley, now 0-4. Mays had opened the 12th with his fourth single, but was nailed at the plate by Hank Aaron's peg as he tried to score on Finigan's hit to center.

The Cards scored two unearned runs in the third and bagged it with two in the fourth as Gene Green hit an RBI double and scored on Curt Flood's single. Bob Friend lost his fourth. Wilmer Mizell won his third.

Once-beaten Bob Purkey won his seventh and hit his second major league homer for the Reds, who had 13 hits. Don Hoak homered and Frank Robinson had four hits. Carl Erskine lost his third.

Harry Anderson's three-run double and Stan Lopata's follow-up sixth homer gave the Phils five in a clinching seventh against losing reliever Don Elston (6-3). Ray Sempach (5-4) won it in relief.

Ralph Terry was a long time shaking his slump, but when he finally put it away he won big, shutout.

The Kansas City right-hander who had lost five straight won his third 2-0 Thursday night at Washington as Woody Held's two-run homer scrapped a duel with Camilo Pascual. It was the first victory since April 26 for Terry.

The league-leading New York Yankees split a double-header with Chicago. The White Sox won the second game 3-2 after losing 12-5.

Boston defeated Cleveland 5-3, and Detroit defeated Baltimore 6-3.

Terry, 22, poured it on, walking but three and fanning seven. He gave up a lead-off triple to Pascual in the 10th, then walked a pair intentionally to load the bases and got slugger Roy Sievers to hit into a line-drive double play.

That put Terry over the hump. He didn't allow another hit.

The White Sox won as Sherm Lollar's first-inning homer off loser Bobby Shantz (4-2) and ninth-inning single off Sal Maglie drove in all their runs. Ray Moore (2-1)

McMullin Jittery With Dallas Lead

DALLAS (AP)—In 24 golf tournaments this year only one player of 44 who led or tied for the lead in the first round came through with the championship.

Thus jittery John McMullin, the hungry-looking fellow from Fair Oaks, Calif., who has won much less than expenses on the tour, faces some great odds as he sets out today ahead of the pack in the $25,000 Dallas Open.

McMullin, 23, who lives at Alameda, Calif., and whose wife is expecting at Palo Alto, laid down a 6-under-par 64 Thursday to take the first-round lead. It gave him makers—Tony Lema, Napa, Cal.; Doug Sanders, Miami, Fla.; and Gary Player of Johannesburg.

State Trapshoot Set In Findley June 11-15

FINDLAY (AP)—The Ohio State Trapshooting, Inc., will hold its 72nd annual tournament June 11-15 at the Fisher Brothers shooting park here.

The association will furnish five trophies and $4,000 added money. The Amateur Trapshooting Assn. and the host club will furnish an additional 21 trophies. The final event on June 15 will be the Ohio handicap championship, with $500 added money.

Akins Favored To Chalk Up Welter Title

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A new world welterweight boxing champion will be crowned tonight when Virgil Akins, a stiff-punching hometown boy, meets clever Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., in the 15-round final match of an elimination tournament.

Carmen Basilio, who vacated the title last September when he entered the middleweight ranks, will watch the fight. He picks Martinez.

Akins, a 30-year-old slugger who has come into his own in recent months after years of erratic performances, is the 2-1 favorite on the home front.

It will be a healthy payday for both fighters. Each gets $15,000 from TV and an additional $15,000 guarantee of 30 per cent of receipts.

Akins and Martinez, 29, are the survivors of a six-man elimination tournament set up last year. Akins bypassed the tourney for a time and won the Massachusetts version of the world title by knocking out ex-champ Tony DeMarco. After repeating the job on DeMarco in a rematch, Virgil eliminated Isaac Logart by a sixth-round knockout in New York March 21.

Martinez ousted Gil Turner in January and drew a bye into the finals with Akins.

Martinez's 60-5 record for 65 bouts is more impressive than Akins' 47-17-1.

7 Three-Year-Olds Slated for Belmont

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless some surprise pops up, the names of seven 3-year-old colts were to be dropped into the entry box today for the 90th running of the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes.

Tim Tam, from the Calumet Farm of Mrs. Gene Markey, rules an odds-on choice to capture the mile and one-half classic Saturday at Belmont Park.

Others due to make the big try were Joseph E. O'Connell's Cavan, Wheatley Stable's Nasco, C. V. Whitney's Flamingo, George E. Lewis' Martins Rullah, Mrs. Anna Cannuli's Chance It Tony, and Mrs. Charles Silvers' Page Seven.

Railroad Panel Discusses Problems with Area C of C

A panel of railroaders, representing the Railroad Community Committee of Columbus Area spoke to the officers and directors of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce last night at Tink's Tavern.

Morris E. Lewis, agent for the Norfolk and Western Railway here was moderator of the panel. Panel members were William E. Butler, chief clerk to the assistant superintendent of transportation for the Pennsylvania Railroad, Columbus, and Charles E. Chesher, trainmaster, Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, Columbus.

Also attending the meeting was John Fuhrmann, public relations chief for Huntington, W. Va., and Columbus, for the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference.

The panel discussed the problems facing railroads at the present time. It also described the recommendations handed down by the Smathers Senate Subcommittee on Surface Transportation of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

In brief the subcommittee recommended that the general government guarantee loans to railroads, since they no longer have sufficient credit standing to borrow capital through commercial channels.

That the Interstate Commerce Commission be required to allow rail rates be reduced, in cases where the railroads can do so profitably, to take advantage of the inherent low cost of rail transportation, without regard to what other modes of transportation charge for the same service; That the ICC rule with expediency on intrastate rate cases instead of delaying action until state regulatory bodies have reached final disposition—often a matter of years;

That the railroads be allowed to discontinue unprofitable services and facilities where there is no longer sufficient public need to justify the heavy financial drain; That the agricultural commodities exemptions regulations of the ICC be reviewed and clarified, since unregulated carriers are rapidly preempting this ever-expanding field because of judicial and administrative rulings while other types of carriers are being seriously impaired;

That all commercial transportation of property by motor vehicle in interstate commerce, except private carriage specifically exempt, be subject to regulation, and

That federal excise taxes imposed during the war of 3 per cent on freight and 10 per cent on passenger transportation be repealed.

The chamber Tuesday delayed action on a resolution directed to Sen. John Bricker and Sen. Frank Lausche asking favorable consideration of the Smathers bill, now in the Senate, until hearing the full story from the railroads last night.

After the panel discussion the group decided to approve the resolution.

New Antitrust Rap Levelled Against Timken

Federal Trade Agency Reaffirms Opposition To Market Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Antitrust charges against the Timken Reller Bearing Co. of Canton, Ohio, have been reinstated by the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

The FTC overruled a commission examiner by a 4-1 vote Thursday and reaffirmed its 1956 complaint charging that the company bars its distributors from handling competitive products in the replacement market. Timken is the world's largest manufacturer of tapered roller bearings.

The FTC accused Timken on Feb. 13, 1956, of having an exclusive-dealing policy that might substantially lessen competition in violation of the Clayton Antitrust Act.

The commission later turned over its evidence to William L. Pack, a commissioner examiner, who granted a company motion for dismissal on grounds that a prima facie (on the face) case had not been established.

Commissioner William C. Kern, however, said in the majority opinion Thursday:

"From our examination of the present record we are satisfied that the evidence received affords the basis for reasonably concluding, in the absence of countervailing proof, that during the period covered by the complaint, respondent (Timken) regularly and consistently required its authorized distributors and authorized jobbers not to deal in the taper roller bearings manufactured by others."

Timken has not presented its side of the case, the commission said, but added:

"We are convinced that the allegations of the complaint have been prima facie made out."

The commission opinion said the complaint was supported by memoranda and company correspondence that authorized cancellation of agreements with dealers carrying competitive products.

The FTC majority conceded that written contracts between Timken and its distributors do not provide for exclusive dealing.

The commission majority also disagreed with the examiner by saying he should not have discontinued the value of certain exhibits on grounds of "remoteness in point of time" and "their extremely small number in relation to the number of respondent's dealers."

The exhibits, dealing with the period 1949-54, are timely enough, the commission said, adding that it did not have to "undertake an exhaustive enumeration" of instances in which the law may have been violated.

2 Boys Admit Tying Lad to Rail Tracks

NORWALK, Calif. (AP)—Two 10-year-old boys admit tying a younger boy to railroad tracks, sheriff's deputies said today.

"We wanted to frighten him," one of the boys said.

Michael Evans, 7, was rescued Monday by his father, Frank, just before a train reached the spot where he was bound with his head toward the tracks.

The father had been told of his son's plight by two of Michael's playmates.

Evans said he grabbed one of the boys who had tied his son but let him go as the train approached. Michael said the boys earlier had tried to hang him to a telephone pole.

Officers located the two 10-year-olds by systematically checking schools. Evans and his son identified them.

The boys were released to their parents pending action by juvenile court. Their names were not disclosed.

Fear of New Inflation Said To Be Rising

Another Basic Price Boost Held Inevitable By Some in Business

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Fear of more inflation is rising today in spite of the industrial recession.

Some businessmen are calling another rise in basic prices inevitable even if the slump hangs around for awhile. Still more—and these are particularly numerous in the stock market—think the business upturn, when it comes, will start off a fresh and perhaps vigorous inflation revival.

Here are some of the factors they see keeping the inflation issues alive today:

Wages of many workers are going up, even though their industries may have much idle production facilities. Some of these wage boosts are written into existing contracts and some are in process of negotiation.

Steel executives are saying the automatic wage boost July 1 calls for a price rise to meet it. Enough steel users believe a price hike is coming to have boosted their orders this month to beat it and this has caused steel output to bounce back from its low point.

A wage hike of around 25 cents an hour is coming Aug. 1 in the aluminum industry. And some executives are now warning that this cannot be met without a price increase too. Here also there is a question of making a price hike stick.

Auto wage negotiations are stymied at the moment. But the companies have offered to extend the expired contracts for two more years. These have built-in annual wage increases as well as cost of living pay boosts when the government index rises far enough. The auto union wants even more than this.

Whatever new contract is finally negotiated it seems most likely that some wage increase will be included. And what happens to car prices then?

One inflationary factor that seems certain now is the rise in government spending, to be financed on borrowed money.

The Treasury deficit in the new fiscal year about to start is expected to reach or top 11 billion dollars. This means that the government will be pumping into the economy by its spending some 11 billion dollars more than it will be taking out by taxing.

It was out of this sort of government spending in the war and postwar years that the seeds of the inflation in the 1940s and '50s were sown.

America's first bottle of native champagne was made from the juice of the Catawba grape and introduced about 1820 by Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati.

PICTURE TALK

RONNIE WARREN and MARION SINES
QUIZ SHOW

People come in and ask us all kinds of questions. Here are a few we hear quite often:

Q: Can I take color pictures with box camera?
A: In 99 cases out of 100 we say YES. It might surprise you to see what really good color pictures you can take with almost any camera.

Q: Do I need special film or bulbs to take color pictures indoors?
A: No, not with NEW Kodacolor Film. You can use it outdoors in daylight or indoors with ordinary flashbulbs. Just load your camera and keep shooting—with the same film!

Q: I read somewhere that close-ups of people and pets are more interesting. When I tried it I got fuzzy pictures. Why?
A: With most simple cameras everything beyond five feet is sharp and clear. If you want to move in closer try an expensive Kodak Close-up Attachment. You can get one for almost any kind of camera.

In other columns we'll hit some other questions. Meanwhile, come in and let us answer yours in person.

Franks outlined the history of the park, spoke of its program and described the park itself. He said there are about 33,000 rose plants there. Best time to visit the park, which is along N. High St., Columbus, will be the next two weeks, Franks said.

He showed slides of the construction of the park, the planting of the roses and what it looks like now. He also showed close-up photos of particular rose varieties.

Franks conducted a question and answer session after the meeting. Many local rose growers attended the meeting and asked Franks specific questions on rose culture.

New Antitrust Rap Leveled Against Timken

Federal Trade Agency Reaffirms Opposition To Market Policy

The commission opinion said the complaint was supported by memoranda and company correspondence that authorized cancellation of agreements with dealers carrying competitive products.

The FTC majority conceded that written contracts between Timken and its distributors do not provide for exclusive dealing.

The commission majority also disagreed with the examiner by saying he should not have discontinued the value of certain exhibits on grounds of "remoteness in point of time" and "their extremely small number in relation to the number of respondent's dealers."

The exhibits, dealing with the period 1949-54, are timely enough, the commission said, adding that it did not have to "undertake an exhaustive enumeration" of instances in which the law may have been violated.

Fear of New Inflation Said To Be Rising

Another Basic Price Boost Held Inevitable By Some in Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Fear of more inflation is rising today in spite of the industrial recession.

Some businessmen are calling another rise in basic prices inevitable even if the slump hangs around for awhile. Still more—and these are particularly numerous in the stock market—think the business upturn, when it comes, will start off a fresh and perhaps vigorous inflation revival.

Here are some of the factors they see keeping the inflation issues alive today:

Wages of many forkers are going up, even though their industries may have much idle production facilities. Some of these wage boosts are written into existing contracts and some are in process of negotiation.

Steel executives are saying the automatic wage boost July 1 calls for a price rise to meet it. Enough steel users believe a price hike is coming to have boosted their orders this month to beat it and this has caused steel output to bounce back from its low point.

A wage hike of around 25 cents an hour is coming Aug. 1 in the aluminum industry. And some executives are now warning that this cannot be met without a price increase too. Here also there is a question of making a price hike stick.

Auto wage negotiations are stymied at the moment. But the companies have offered to extend the expired contracts for two more years. These have built-in annual wage increases as well as cost of living pay boosts when the government index rises far enough. The auto union wants even more than this.

Whatever new contract is finally negotiated it seems most likely that some wage increase will be included. And what happens to car prices then?

One inflationary factor that seems certain now is the rise in government spending, to be financed on borrowed money.

The Treasury deficit in the new fiscal year about to start is expected to reach or top 11 billion dollars. This means that the government will be pumping into the economy by its spending some 11 billion dollars more than it will be taking out by taxing.

It was out of this sort of government spending in the war and postwar years that the seeds of the inflation in the 1940s and '50s were sown.

QUIZ SHOW

People come in and ask us all kinds of questions. Here are a few we hear quite often:

Q: Can I take color pictures with box camera?

A: In 99 cases out of 100 we say YES. It might surprise you to see what really good color pictures you can take with almost any camera.

Q: Do I need special film or bulbs to take color pictures indoors?

A: No, not with NEW Kodachrome Film. You can use it outdoors in daylight or indoors with ordinary flashbulbs. Just load your camera and keep shooting — with the same film!

Q: I read somewhere that close-ups of people and pets are more interesting. When I tried it I got fuzzy pictures. Why?

A: With most simple cameras everything beyond five feet is sharp and clear. If you want to move in closer try an inexpensive Kodak Close-up Attachment. You can get one for almost any kind of camera.

In other columns we'll hit some other questions. Meanwhile, come in and let us answer yours in person.

Foster Franks Tells Rotary About Roses

Foster Franks, horticulturist at the Columbus Park of Roses, spoke to the Circleville Rotary Club yesterday noon at the Elks home.

Franks outlined the history of the park, spoke of its program and described the park itself. He said there are about 33,000 rose plants there. Best time to visit the park, which is along N. High St., Columbus, will be the next two weeks, Franks said.

He showed slides of the construction of the park, the planting of the roses and what it looks like now. He also showed close-up photos of particular rose varieties.

Franks conducted a question and answer session after the meeting. Many local rose growers attended the meeting and asked Franks specific questions on rose culture.
